BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

Some people are shit flumes in real life, and other people play shit flumes on TV.

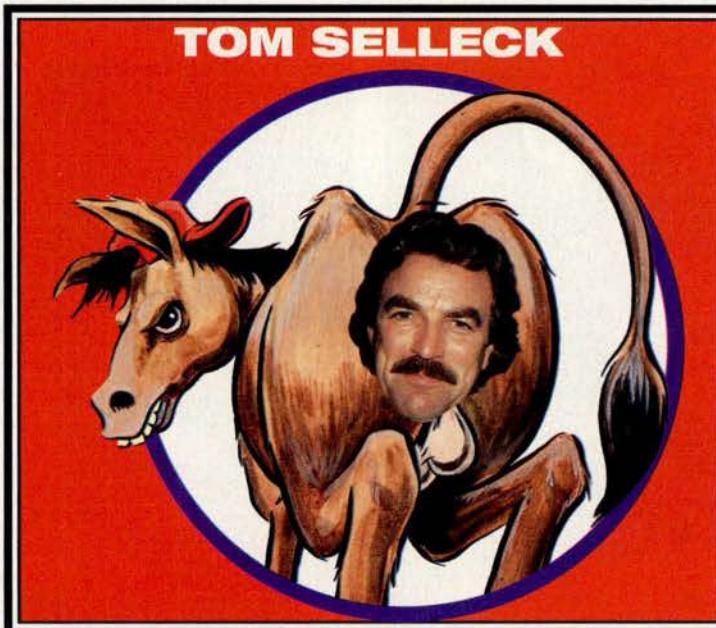

Cathode blowhard Tom Selleck has preened and minced through a long television and film career. Selleck's onscreen work is distinguished primarily by the fact that he displays zero acting ability. But when Tom Selleck stands up and mouths off in the role of shit flume at a Washington, D.C., fund-raising dinner, at a Republican convention, in a TV Guide interview, all the world knows that it is seeing the performance of a true shit flume.

Selleck's authentic, undiluted, heartfelt and uninterrupted output of elitist, double-standardized, womanly shit is why he has been proclaimed HUSTLER's Asshole of the Month for January 1996.

Selleck reached his celebrity zenith in the 1980s. The aging, dimpled beefcake created a sensation in gay bars across the nation as the star of the Magnum, P.I. series. Hair salons and glory holes buzzed with talk of the Magnum, P.I. hunk, who was best appreciated for parading in short pants and Hawaiian shirts open almost to his navel. Selleck's character had a nebulous but intimate relationship with a much older man. Both of them wore neatly trimmed mustaches, similar to the facial hair sported by many police officers, but not quite so masculine.

In 1991, supermarket tabloid the Globe went out on a limb and published a story intimating that Selleck was gay. Selleck threw a hissy fit, suing the Globe for $20 million. "Boy, was I mad," seethes Selleck.

Laura Hart McKinny: A far from successful screenwriter, Laura Hart McKinny gained wide recognition as the writer who brought the "nigger" spewing audio tapes of former Los Angeles Police detective Mark Fuhrman to the O. J. Simpson trial. McKinny's duty to supply this evidence in the service of fair justice was a decision between she and her conscience.

Though he was soon mollified by an apology from the paper, the trauma from Tom Selleck's brush with a presumptuous press seems to have lingered and perhaps has contributed to the tone of paranoia that leaks into the faded celebrity's media contacts.

"I have a problem with the tabloids," complains Selleck. "I feel the media should be forthright and honest," he continues. "But the press has its own agenda, and too often it's to distort and mock people's beliefs and activities. It's the tabloidization of the mainstream, and we all suffer as a result of it....It's a real ethical decline."

Selleck's professed concern for "ethical declines" often shows itself as an appetite for censorship.

At a July 1995 conference on entertainment and family values chaired by Vice President Al Gore and attended by President Bill Clinton, sphincter Selleck puckered up and delivered his opinion that the TV and movie industry should welcome a chance to act more responsibly. "We [in Hollywood] all too often," puffed Tom, "circle the wagons and holler censorship."

Judging from comments he made in February 1994, Selleck reserves the right to rationalize away the chance to act more responsibly when it is applied to his own work: "Counting [each violent act] you miss the moral of the story....There was quite a bit of profanity, some

Farts in the Wind

Her tortured soul-wringing on the witness stand, and her attempts to market a slim script on the publicity of a double murder, are the performances of a widespread Asshole.

Vladimir Zhirinovsky: The man in charge of Russia's so-called Liberal Democratic Party, Vladimir Zhirinovsky is best known as the violence and rather adult situations at times. These individual elements aren't as important as the overall effect the movie had."

Though insiders blame Selleck's three-year drought without a movie role on the actor's meager appeal, Selleck has suggested that his conservative views cost him continued success in show business.

Arnold Schwarzenegger and Bruce Willis, two outspoken and highly public conservatives, have not shared Selleck's difficulties.

Still, Selleck insists: "Hollywood is so intolerant of other points of view. They feel if you disagree with them, you're evil. And if that costs me work, I'm proud of it."

Selleck's recent TV movie was produced by liberal activist Jane Fonda. Fonda demonstrates a greater grasp of tolerance than does Selleck. Referring, in print, to entertainer Barbra Streisand's speaking out for political causes, Selleck opines: "I like Barbra a lot, but she ought to shut up about that."

Acting as a spokesperson for the Character Counts Coalition, a consortium of 27 youth groups, Selleck (who has a permit to carry a character-building concealed weapon) takes every opportunity to pontificate upon the need for "virtue" among America's kids.

When not blaming liberals for putting him on an "out" list, Selleck insists that he took his three idle years for the sake of his seven-year-old daughter. Using a kid as an excuse for his own failings is only one trait that qualifies Tom Selleck as a Magnum A-Hole.

Russki's top ultranationalist. The Nazilike bastard recently assaulted a female Russian lawmaker on the Parliament floor, employing the excuse: "Such women dream of being raped, but no one wants them. They like standing next to strong male bodies." Zhirinovsky is the difference between a strong male body and a stinking male Asshole.

Well, Well, Solly

Not known for being adept at remorse, the Japanese government has for decades avoided accepting responsibility for its imperialistic warmongering before and during World War II. So the recent apology from Premier Tomiichi Murayama for Japanese acts of "colonial rule and aggression" sent shock waves throughout the international political arena. Some Asian nations, such as China and Korea, who suffered the brunt of the Japanese military force, are not satisfied with the scope of the apology, and neither are we in America. HUSTLER herewith offers Premier Murayama an opportunity to apologize for his countrymen's true atrocities.

Porn from the Past

This Olympic pole vaulter shaved her bush to decrease wind resistance, and although she didn't make it into the track-and-field record books, she did attain a lofty spot in HUSTLER's Bits & Pieces. ## Dying to Get In Despondent and no doubt horny after her late husband's death, Anna Nicole Smith needs love. The fleshy 27-year-old celebrity figure requires someone to shower her with paternal affection the way once-89-year-old hubby and oil tycoon J. Howard Marshall II did. A few generous—and mature—personalities with time and money on their hands should line up to console the grieving widow.

Antiquated benefactors Bob Dole, Bob Hope, Walter Matthau, George Burns, Jack Lemmon and Milton Berle should pull together, like little, old train engines that can, and get a piece of Widow Anna.

The Anna Nicole Smith Gang-Bang. Watch for it in history books.

The Tunabomber Scare

A spate of terrorist acts has left executives across the country crippled with tense anticipation. Authorities are warning corporate leaders to exercise extreme caution while opening packages from unknown sources. More than one high-level systems analyst has been enveloped in a cluster of soaking pussies, cleverly concealed in a flip-top can innocuously labeled TUNA.

FEED BACK

In Praise of Assholes

I have been a reader of your fine magazine for a number of years. One of my favorite sections is "Asshole of the Month." Whoever puts this together really knows how to do it. I find every one of them to be excellent. I have been wondering for some time if you have ever considered doing a complete printout of all the articles that have been done. I certainly would like to have an issue, and I believe it would please many readers. I don't know how you would title it, if sold in newsstands. Maybe it could be an insert for a regular issue.

—G. E. M.

Graham, North Carolina

Thank you, G. E. M. "Asshole" is a monthly public-service announcement from HUSTLER. We are glad the public is listening. Keep the Feedback coming.

Family Ties

Over the past few years, one of my aunts, three cousins and two of my sisters have appeared in the Beaver Hunt section of HUSTLER. I can truthfully say that each of them has looked as beautiful as when I see them in person. Sounds goofy, but my mother's family has a two-week nude reunion every summer. Her brother lives on the farm in Minnesota where she was raised. There were six kids in their family, three girls and three boys, and all married and had families of their own. I have a brother and two sisters, married with families too. My family includes my wife, two sons and three daughters. The total number at our family reunion was 68 people this year. It was 38 females and 30 males. Of the males, four were castrated and 14 kept their pubic area shaved clean. Of the ladies, 20 had their pussies shaved clean, and the other 18 had some bikini trim on their pussies. I mention this because it seems there is a trend toward the ladies keeping themselves shaved clean. In your last two magazines there have appeared 28 ladies in Beaver Hunt. They were evenly divided between clean shaven and partially or not-at-all shaved. Is the thing of the future for ladies to shave? In my immediate family, all four of the ladies shave.

I love the Bits & Pieces section in each issue. Are the beautiful ladies staff, models or who? I think they look more natural than the posed models. The beautiful ladies in Beaver Hunt are also more like what you find a lady is like when you are on the make. Any time I want to get turned on around home, I just look at the Bits and Pieces section or the Beaver Hunt. If you guys have never had a nude family reunion—drool. You are missing the joys of a lifetime. Believe me, everything you can imagine really happens; all your dreams and fantasies come true.

—K. G.

Goleta, California

It sounds as though you have a particularly close family, K. G. Just make sure not to break any laws, and you can go on enjoying those wonderful reunions. Does Grandma strip too?

Taylor Laid

I'm a big fan of your magazine and have been for a long time. I'm writing about the October 1995 centerfold layout of Taylor (Taylor: Flash Dancer, October '95). She is the most beautiful and talented model I have ever seen. Could you please forward this letter to her? I would like to wish her much success on her career. I was wondering if she appears in any videos? Also, could you have Taylor send me her autographed picture? Thank you very much.

—S. H.

Brooklyn, New York

Taylor definitely has something about her. She does appear on video, and also in the January '96 issue of HUSTLER EROTIC VIDEO GUIDE. HEVG contains video-company listings, through which you can send mail to Taylor and other favorite XXX starlets, and possibly receive an autographed photo in return. Good luck.

Correctional Literature

I'm a black male serving 17 to life in a California state prison. I've been incarcerated for 12 years. For almost 11 years I've been attracted to men. In the past year or so, after having a prayer answered, I no longer have the desire for men. A friend gave me your September '91 magazine. As I looked through it, I couldn't believe how turned on I became. I got to Beaver Hunt, and there she stood, Pebbles, in front of the U.S. flag. Pebbles sure knew how to make the old red, white and blue shine bright. She also makes me shine every night before I go to sleep, and every morning when I wake up. I thank God for my sight; I thank Pebbles for brightening my life. Thank you, HUSTLER, for such lovely pictures of so many beautiful girls. —R. R.

California Men's Colony West
San Luis Obispo, California

HUSTLER does make a difference. Spiritual inspiration delivered to your door, or at newsstands everywhere. HUSTLER saves!

Future Cock

I've been contemplating purchasing a computer because in the near future I think that they will become a necessity just like HUSTLER is to me now, but I have a question to ask first: Are adult CD-ROM interactive games compatible with all brand-name computers? My deciding factor regarding purchasing a computer would be if HUSTLER could provide a "Stroker's Guide" to the adult CD-ROM interactive games. Thank you. —C. R.

Watsonville, California

Computers are definitely getting more important in our lives, but equating them with a necessity such as HUSTLER is going too far. HUSTLER is now available online (<http://hustler.onprod.com>); so computers do have a clear role: as a means to HUSTLER. For reviews of the hottest in adult CD-ROM and interactive games, get hold of HARD DRIVE Magazine at a newsstand, or call 800-714-0499 for a subscription.

Angel at My Toilet

I'm an inmate at the Correctional Industrial Complex in Pendleton, Indiana. I'm 22 years old. I've been down for three years and still have double that to do. I've been using your book the whole time I've been down. But the HUSTLER issue from February 1993 had a model named Angelica Bella (Angelica Bella: Free Floater, February '93). I said to myself, I'll stop at nothing just to get her to correspond with me. I'm writing this letter to ask for Angelica's fan-club address, a signed autograph and, if possible, her home address or phone. You never let me down before; so don't let me down now. —M. F.

Pendleton, Indiana

Don't look at it as being let down, M. F., but policy forbids giving out home addresses and phone numbers of models. While you are surely an upstanding individual, there are people who simply don't know how to behave themselves, and they ruin it for everyone else. On the other hand, M. F., the November '95 issue of CHIC Magazine featured heavenly Angelica on the cover and the centerfold, and she is still a sight for sore loins. Call 800-328-6704 to order back issues of CHIC, or mail order through our Subscriptions Department. You won't be sorry.

Not Just a Job

A while back you offered your readers a once in a lifetime opportunity to be in a porn film. I was wondering if you would be repeating that offer any time in the near future. I would give my left (or right) nut to be able to perform in a porn video. I feel I have the right qualifications: I love sex; I can fuck for hours; I can blow a huge load. So, as you can see, I'm the right man (stud) for the job. My motto is, "Have dick—will travel." Well, I close with the hopes that you'll print this letter with a reply. Stay hard. —C. G.

New Paltz, New York

Lofty ambitions, C. G., but HUSTLER is not an employment agency. Try contacting HUSTLER EROTIC VIDEO GUIDE.

Darker Our Love

I am a big fan of HUSTLER and enjoy the boy/girl sets more than anything. My complaint is that HUSTLER hardly ever has any black men featured in the boy/girl sets, and never any all-black sets. Why don't you try mixing it up and pleasing your black readers as well as your white? Black really is beautiful, and we take good pictures too. —R. B.

Kentucky State Reformatory
La Grange, Kentucky

John Leslie's The Voyeur #5

FULLY ERECT. Directed by John Leslie; starring Nici Sterling, Kimberly Kyle, Natalie Tizara, Gina Delaney, Tabitha, Madelyn Knight, Missy, Caressa Savage, Cell-e, Sid Deuce, Steven St. Croix, Mr. Marcus, Peter North, Gerry Pike, T. T. Boy, Bobby Vitale, Warren Scott, Nick Knight and Trent Rowlan. Videocassette: Evil Angel.

A breakdown of current-day adult video's premier pornographers: John Stagliano puts the viewer right fucking there in his unbeatable Buttman series; pervert Patrick Collins electrifyingly tempts the taboo via Sodomania; Gregory Dark's art-mutant nookie wonderlands provide scintillating, surreal slap material; and Max Hardcore is the misogynistic meat puller's angry-genius best friend. Then there's John Leslie—who may have them all beat. Leslie has crafted high-profile, one-of-a-kind oddities such as Chameleons and Fresh Meat for some time, and fairly recently kicked off the scaled-down saga of The Voyeur. The Voyeur #5 is the most ball-blistering entry in the peep-themed line yet, showcasing ten uniformly mouth-watering fuck crumpets in every conceivable carnal situation. Tabitha takes a marathon pounding poolside; Missy, Madelyn Knight and Caressa Savage split a chest of sex toys and spread their legs to use them; Natalie Tizara preps Kimberly Kyle for a Peter North cream bath; smashingly sexy Brit snizz Nici Sterling crams two wands into her smacker at once; Gina Delaney buries black bone; and dazzling, naturally large-sacked Sid Deuce snacks scrumptious Cell-e's slime swatch while taking dick in her dingle. All told, The Voyeur #5 offers a two-word display: Fully Erect. —Mike McPadden

THE VOYEUR: Nici Sterling grabs the mic of St. Croix; do-ragged dong does backups.

THE VOYEUR: Knight and Savage make hay on Missy.

White Wedding

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Paul Thomas; starring Chasey Lain, Jill Kelly, Roxanne Hall, Lana Sands, Heather Lee, Dalny Marga, Steve Drake, Marc Wallice and Nick East. Videocassette: Vivid.

Chasey Lain, the lofty lobed brunette with the classic schoolgirl pout and over-sized eyes lidded with the languor of lust, is now a Vivid girl. White Wedding marks the marriage of fantasy's most flawless fodder and the porn industry's most polished purveyors. The obvious question arises: Does the union of Chasey and Vivid mean that she will not be doing men on film anymore, as is the wont of certain much harped-upon Vivid snatch queens? Marc Wallice pounds that concern to rest within Wedding's opening minutes, eating Lain's ass and donning a prophylactic to slice into her crumpet-perfect cunt, splattering his spurts right onto her haughty slut face. Chasey portrays a bride who flashes back to her wedding and forward again, in the process strapping on a dong to plug a sweet-ass blonde, then taking Nick East's condom-encased rod in the hole and his latex-free choad to the teeth. The backup fucks, particularly two nude dusky trollops climbing a staircase and Steve Drake, are strong also, which should give White Wedding a solid reception.

—Christian Shapiro

WHITE WEDDING: Chasey Lain catches boff-stick bouquet.

MELLON MAN: Holly Body wraps a wiener in plastic.

Mellon Man 9

HALF ERECT. Directed by Bruno Aldente; starring Whitney Wonders, Holly Body, Brandon Iron, Jordan Hart, Natalie Tizara, Brittany Andrews and Kyle Stone. Videocassette: Avica.

Boobs, boobs, boobs and cheap-jack camera work: It must be Mellon Man! For this ninth edition of Bruno Aldente's low-tech, high-silicone, zero-inspiration series, the overinflated objects of the titular tit-hound's affection are, for once, attached to a handful of appealing performers—and what a handful! Whitney Wonders is pretty in plastic: It's real fun to watch her not-too-awful augmentations flop and fly mid-fuck, and squinting viewers can pretend they're real; happy-sexy Holly Body's cancer bags are hard and look like they hurt, placing a pleasantly sadistic spin on pummeling to her enthusiastic, tape-opening poke. Meaty Mexican Natalie Tizara tackles the titanic, deliciously sloppy, surgically undefiled dairy pouches of Brandon Iron, and then more Formica mammarys take boy-milk coating from anonymous beef tuggers. Mellon Man 9 is nourishing enough.

—Selwyn Harris

Sodomania: Cunt Lickin', Cum Drinkin' Bitches

HALF ERECT. Directed by Patrick Collins; starring Channone, Stefania Sartori, Mary, Shelby Stevens, Gaya, Penelope, Eva, Elisabeth King, Bernadette, Mike Foster, John Stagliano, Phillippe Dean, Francesco Trulli, Attila and Roscoe Bowltree. Videocassette: Elegant Angel.

The box cover for Sodomania: Cunt Lickin', Cum Drinkin' Bitches promises "nasty Swedish girls, French whores, Hungarian harlots, and an American slut too!" The tape certainly delivers on its claim but, at this point, big deal—especially when the would-be-yank-inspiring Yank in question is hard-weathered fluid-catcher Shelby Stevens. Foreigners fuck in various clusters in this nonnumbered Sodomania; Roscoe Bowltree-as-Fazano bangs several choice cunt folds culled from the Cannes Film Festival, one in tandem with John Stagliano as Buttman; pretty girls sit on each other's fingers; and uncircumcised schlongs slide in and out of sphincters. Everything is in order, which is precisely the problem: Sodomania: Cunt Lickin', Cum Drinkin' Bitches comes across as a lackluster toss off, its crasser-than-usual title likely intended to take the place of genuine heat. Sodomania, until this half-bungle, has been smut video's most searingly consistent series. Those in charge should be ever wary of a chilling effect.

—S. H.

SODOMANIA: Shelby Stevens submits to Parisian proctology.

PORN SCANDALS OF '95

WHEN BAD THINGS HAPPEN TO HORNY PEOPLE

Barbara Doll

Suicide and immunodeficiency crises tore through the adult-entertainment community in 1995, 12 months that proved to be a real fucker. What follows is a brief overview of a long, painful year.

When sad, beautiful Shannon Wilsey, a/k/a Savannah, blew a bullet through her brain last year, she may have launched an unfortunate trend: Porn stars have been killing themselves ever since. Tongue-tied muscle stud Cal Jammer went via handgun blast; blond butt babe Alex Jordan took a long walk off a short chair with a noose around her neck; and brilliantly berserk, self-proclaimed "superspoof" Jack Baker fell prey to complications related to drug abuse.

Bad news from abroad: First, Gallic nookie dish Barbara Doll tested positive for the AIDS virus. Then she didn't—supposedly. No matter: The once prolific French piece has since vanished.

New, persistent rumors contend that a supporting-level British sex savory is now tainted with the dreaded infection. Is it time to close our borders to foreign gash with open legs?

Max Steiner—better known, and more feared, as Max Hardcore—split ugly from his parent company, Zane Entertainment. Legal wrangling followed, in which both parties sought to retain ownership of the notorious, black-hatted Max Hardcore character, and the unique, viciously erotic Cherry Poppers and Anal Adventures of Max Hardcore series in which Hardcore appears. As of press time, a judge ruled that Steiner could hold on to his creation. This was not Zane magnate Chuck Zane's only woe: He reportedly engaged in very public fisticuffs with frightening XXX vet Buck Adams at last January's CES Show in Las Vegas.

Max Hardcore

Attitude

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Jon Dough; starring Juli Ashton, Nikole Lace, Rebecca Lord, Brooke Waters, Kim Kataine, Misty Rain, Jen Teal, Bionca, Vanessa Chase, Emerald Estrada, Steven St. Croix, Joey Silvera, Jon Dough, T. T. Boy, Alex Sanders and Jonathan Morgan. Videocassette: VCA.

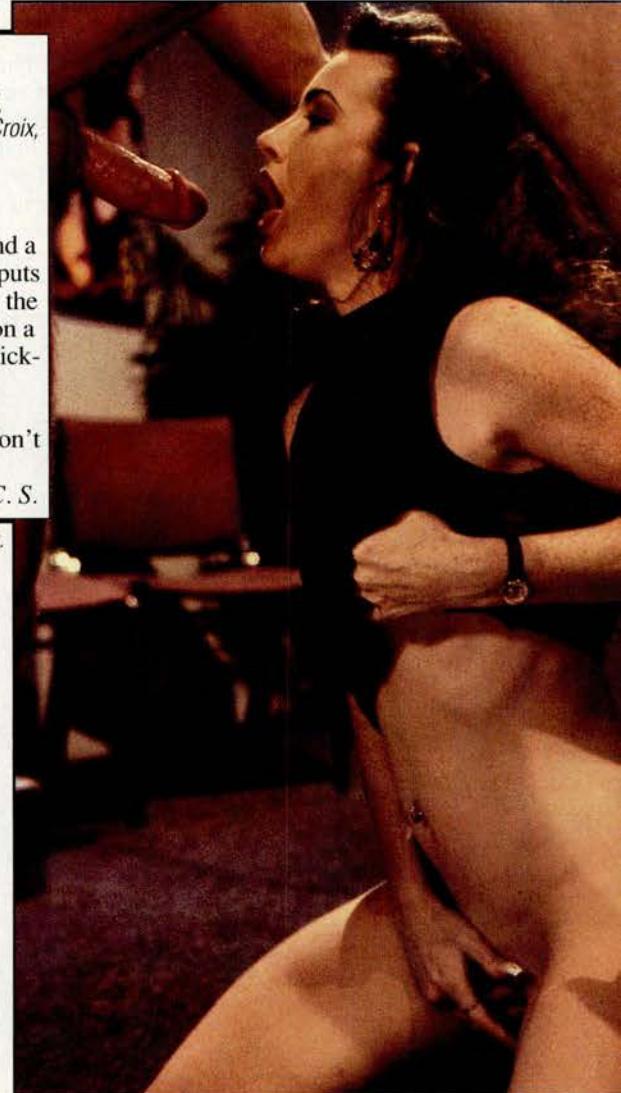

When men and women meet in bars, sex is sure to follow—especially if the pub patrons are accompanied by the cameras of a pornographic-film crew. Steven St. Croix is acting weird, but a few licks and sticks from slender slut Rebecca Lord and a gal pal of comparable appeal, and St. Croix is straightened right out. Joey Silvera puts a cardboard box over Juli Ashton's head, then comes to his senses and puds pumps the big-tit blonde until he can't help but spurt on her pristine snatch. T. T. Boy spills on a chesty Mexican hole's dynamo face, but the camera slips right past it. Choppy, quick-cut editing of the following slut-slut girl fuck causes a vertiginous swoon in the viewer, which can be hazardous to stroking. A dangerous, swirly visual condition affects a good portion of the remaining scenes, but there's still three to come, so don't worry about it. At flick's end, director/leading gland Jon Dough morphs into a rottweiler and ambles into the night, but Attitude is no dog. —C. S.

ATTITUDE: Tawny trollop makes her adjustments.

Forever

HALF ERECT. Directed by Buck Adams; starring Kelly Jaye, Nikole Lace, Jessica James, Sid Deuce, Caressa Savage, T. T. Boy, Tony Tedeschi and Gerry Pike. Videocassette: Sin City.

Director Buck Adams goes slightly against his sperm-spewing, action-hero character in Forever, appearing as a guy who sits on a couch reading a book. Believe it or not, the book contains fuck scenes, and a cast of porn pros acts out those salient segments in real-time video. T. T. Boy emotes momentarily with a willing blonde, then peels out of his jacket as she sucks his snake from his trousers. The camera moves in on the limber-limbed blond snatch, then Boy's bone moves into the lithe-legged cooze. The cum is on the buns. Toni Tedeschi shoots a quick splat to the anus of a bent-forward redhead. A dark little lewd lady goes goo-goo face for Gerry Pike's prod, which ultimately spritzes goo goo on the murk and musk of her butt crack and open clam. A pair of chicks engage in contorted, cranked-neck cunt chomping. A pixie pair of pussies pump and preen upon Tedeschi's pipe. Forever is all right as a fleeting fling. —C. S.

First Time Ever

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Jim Holliday; starring Kylie Ireland, Nina Hartley, Angela Summers, Felecia, Tiffany Mynx, Bionca, Debi Diamond, Caressa Savage, Summer Knight, Rachel Love, Crystal Wilder, Shelby Stevens, Keisha, Melanie Moore and Jim Holliday. Videocassette: Plush.

The gimmick of the more-or-less slapdash all-girl feature First Time Ever is that the 14 hardy porn starlets coupled into the tape's seven sapphic scenarios have always "wanted" to work together. Sure. It works fine in some cases (colorful flesh avalanche Keisha descending on white-skinned, whippet-thin, pinkie-nippled Melanie Moore, for example), but no premise could rescue a few of the others (does the prospect of Nina Hartley mixing muff strands with Kylie Ireland wither your willie or what?). Between the overall whackable bogusness, porn big mouth and First Time Ever helmsman Jim Holliday shows up in bad wraparound sunglasses and a worse white tuxedo, a bloviating, pompous professional masturbator with delusions of having an actual life. Viewers can fuck their fists to First Time Ever, then favorably compare themselves against the host. Kudos to Jim Holliday for, once again, giving the people what they want. —S. H.

FIRST TIME EVER: Stevens introduces herself to Felecia.

Le Femme Vanessa

ONE-QUARTER ERECT. Directed by Jace Rocker; starring Vanessa Chase, Jordan Lee, Roxanne Hall, Patricia Kennedy, Barbara Doll, Tom Byron, Tony Tedeschi, Peter North and Rick Masters. Videocassette: Sin City.

A pot of coffee goes skank after sitting on the burner for 20 minutes, and a hackneyed porn tape doesn't get any fresher by languishing on the shelf for half a year before it's released to the viewing public. The presence of big, blond French twist Barbara Doll indicates that Le Femme was shot prior to le Doll's hurried scurry from the U.S. in the wake of an HIV scandal. Aside from a few splotchy facial cum-shots, one a dual-load launch, another from the prodigious spigot of Peter

North, the only reason to watch this farcical porn parody of Cold War espionage movies is the ass-fucking of Vanessa Chase. Subsequent to this exercise in obscurity, Chase has been hailed as one of the leading lights of the XXX labe parade, and her luminous ass takes the tongue of Tom Byron as readily as it takes his prong. Too bad Tom's decked out in military-police drag and doing slapstick schtick while he should be slapping in his thick prick. —C. S.

Deep Inside P. J. Sparxxx

HALF ERECT. Directed by Wesley Emerson; starring P. J. Sparxxx, Sunny McKay, Randy West, T. T. Boy, Peter North, Marc Wallace, Melanie Moore, Debi Diamond, Nicole London, Tiffany Mynx, Chrissa and Jeanna Fine. Videocassette: VCA.

"I had a wonderful childhood," confesses picture-pretty P. J. Sparxxx. Looking like a California cheerleader girl, she sits in a video studio, taping filler to go between the fuck scenes in her VCA tribute package. P. J. is all grown up now, still silicone free, and she's been royally reamed in the meantime, with much of that fucked-in process preserved on this cassette: Sparxxx heaves a hearty hump at a pair of dudes upon a butcher-block table; she shimmies and slurps with skinny Sunny McKay on a strip-club stage; she gulps and groans for Peter North's cock; she scissor grinds the gonads of Melanie Moore, straight fucks T. T. Boy on a beach blanket, is pawed and stuffed by Randy West and indulges in anal beads, plastic prongs, and toes-to-clits in a Jeanna Fine-led dyke pile. Sparxxx claims to have orgasms while she's performing; whether that's true or not doesn't matter as long as the audience is having orgasms while she's performing. —C. S.

WHEN YOU BANG UPON A STAR

Most gang-bang tapes feature hard-faced, satchel-assed biker mamas enduring unbearably long and boring cock whippings from hairy, potbellied, dink-penis-ed mooks.

Fantastic Pictures' Starbangers line offers a stellar exception.

Featuring only luminous, top-of-the-line female talent opening their holes for no less than a dozen poles in each cassette's three poke piles, the Starbangers series showcases women who should know better doing exactly what every horndog wishes they would.

Starbangers Volume 1 was the last major project for the late ice beauty Savannah;

Volume 2 stars ebony fuck princess Dominique Simone; and Volume 3 displays elegant British crumpet Sarah-Jane Hamilton being savagely dicked by 12 horny woodsmen.

Subsequent editions put wide body Tracey Adams, mega-boobed blonde Samantha Strong and muscle hump Tiffany Million on the block for multiple boffings.

Starbangers Volume 7, just recently released, finds cute Kaitlyn Ashley's bubblegum snatch the object of much chewing and popping.

Have a bang at the whole bunch.

Samantha Strong

Simply Blue

HALF ERECT. Directed by Layne Parker; starring Ashlyn Gere, Anna Malle, Roxanne Hall, Felecia Dallas, Hank Armstrong, Bobby Vitale, Marc Wallace, Alex Sanders and Tom Byron. Videocassette: Wave Video.

Any time a smut flick starring Ashlyn Gere gets a rating lower than Three-Quarters Erect, the informed reader can assume that the disappointment was not her fault. While it is true that many people have sex in the dark, both by preference and incidentally, low-light couplings are rarely effective in XXX cinema, and the low-lumination lay at the middle of Simply Blue, wherein a dude and doxie screw under black light with haphazard Day-Glo stripes painted across their torsos, is no exception. Also unexceptional are the by-now rote sapphic calisthenics of Ms. Wonder Nipples of 1993 Felecia, and the alleyway boffing of a marginal muff by Tom Byron. Still, Gere does have a pair of balls parked in her face while another dick plows her slither lips, and drenching quantities of splooge do fly all over her. For the most part, however, Simply Blue simply blows.

—C. S.

SIMPLY BLUE: Gere girds herself for a grind.

Keyhole

THREE-QUARTERS ERECT. Directed by Phil M. Noir, starring Chellé, Tera Heart, Sally Layd, Dallas, Amanda, Tony Tedeschi, Trent Roela, Alex Sanders, Steve Hatcher and Austin McCloud. Videocassette: Odyssey Group Video.

Keyhole is the inventively shot, well-structured story of a sneaky peak freak in a seedy hotel, which features attractive gash, inspiring sex and directorial style above and beyond that which a wank video of this caliber normally delivers. Naturally, the director had to give himself the stupid pseudonym Phil M. Noir just to remind tantalized onlookers that this is still porn—albeit well-done, rock-solid porn. Trent Roela is the damaged-goods innkeeper who prowls about and witnesses Tera Heart accepting Alex Sanders's salami up her ass; dominatrix Dallas dishing out harsh treatment to Steve Hatcher; sleazeball Tony Tedeschi and a long-haired long dick double stuffing Sally Layd; and Amanda violating her own openings with a succession of candles. After the waxing, Amanda eats jiggly-jugged Chellé on the hotel's front desk, and kind-hearted Chellé closes the proceedings by treating Trent to his first taste of pussy. Look into Keyhole—hard. —S. H.

KEYHOLE: Gleet de Chellé, all on a fuckhead's face.

She-male Trouble

I am a hairdresser who saw your April 1994 issue's spread with a great-looking transsexual named April (April: Fool Bloom, April 1994). She was a real beauty! The girls I work with thought she looked a lot better than many females born on this earth. My co-workers are a great bunch of girls, and all of them are helping me in the transformation that I'm going through. Yes, I was born a male, but I am getting a sex-change operation. I'll say it to HUSTLER straight—I'd rather get fucked and suck a dick than fuck and get sucked. I now have a good set of tits and love it when a man feels them. Someday, I will have my penis removed for a vagina, and then I will be a full-fledged female. All the girls I work with are with me. They are training me to be a great female and sharing their secrets on how to get a man hot. I told them that, being a male, I know what men like—and my mouth and pussy someday will be ready for those hot penises. Soon, after my final operation to remove my penis and balls, I will truly be happy. They say this is a man's world, but I believe it's a woman's. If I was born 1,000 times, I would come back as a female every time. Let's see more transsexuals in your magazine. —M.

No Return Address

An honest letter, M.? Yes. A straight letter? Not by a long shot. However, your enthusiasm for sucking dick is laudable—just remember that the next dick you suck will enjoy it much more if you keep a lid on the fact that you used to have a dick yourself.

He Like Mike

Here's some feedback for you: Mr. Mike Tyson, known as Iron Mike, has really proven a point. He was a wealthy man at one time, but Robin Givens, the gold digger, and his con-artist promoter, Don King, along with Desiree Washington, have tried to destroy Iron Mike. Mike Tyson said to hell with Robin Givens. He also mentioned that he didn't trust Don King, and poor Desiree Washington couldn't stand the fucking he put on her. He's found a new love now, a doctor, which has fixed his love life. I believe he is truly happy. Mike Tyson has returned to the ring much stronger physically, mentally, as well as emotionally. Mike Tyson was crazy, and his life was out of control. I believe that after all the hurt and the prison sentence Mike served, he knows more about who he really is. Mike's back to stay. He's meaner and tougher than ever. He's not going to take any shit. And believe me, he took out all his frustration on Peter McNeeley. Thanks for being my favorite porn magazine. —P. L.

Reidsville, Georgia

Here's some feedback for you, P. L. One: Iron Mike is a wealthy man again. Tyson may not trust Don King, but that didn't keep him from hopping right into bed with the Artful (Tax) Dodger to reap millions for pounding tomato cans on pay-per-view. Two: Only two people in this world know what happened in that hotel room in Indy, P. L., and you aren't one of them. Three: As anyone who has done time will tell you, P. L., three and a half years in lockup will burden a man with more than 89 seconds worth of frustration. Let's see Mike Tyson in a real fight before we hand him back his belt.

WET NURSE

The burn ward of the Intensive Care Unit is not the kind of place most guys expect to get lucky. Nut busting was certainly the last thing on my mind as the doctors bandaged up my red, swollen arm. I felt ridiculous explaining that my wife had tossed a sizzling skillet of grits at my face, right before she tossed me out. That's the price I pay for boning her talk-tale kid sister in the butt.

Robin, my nurse, was a leggy brunette, with creamy jugs that seemed to struggle for freedom from her white uniform. I sprang wood each time she leaned in close enough that I could whiff her musky perfume. However, my enthusiasm wilted when each shake of Robin's ass was accompanied by the prick of a six-inch needle. By the time she led me behind a curtain for my second enema, I decided the good nurse's special treatment had gone too far.

"Is this shit really necessary?" I groaned, fighting her efforts to bend me over the gurney. "Can't you see enough of my bare ass through the little green robe?" Robin's only response was to loudly snap on a pair of rubber gloves. Her subsequent yank on my balls was as exciting as it was alarming. I gasped when she began to massage my hairy oysters.

"Keep it down," she growled. "You'll wake Mrs. Reucroft out of her coma." I did my best to obey as Robin pulled my meat from behind and swallowed the blood-engorged head like a veiny thermometer. Her tongue tickled up my shaft, sending shock waves of pleasure that overpowered the painkillers. My wang leapt straight up into the air. When I turned around to parade the nine-inch salute across Robin's wide, red mouth, my massive hard-on knocked off her little white hat. She was too busy drooling to notice.

Gentle kisses to the underbelly of my white whale followed. With a deep breath, Robin ingested the entire length; then just as quickly spit out my rod, leaving lipstick tracks all the way to the base. I returned the favor by smearing the Max Factor mess on her cheeks, like a kid with his dick in the finger paints. Robin appreciated my artistic attempts enough to lift her skirt and offer her splayed pussy as my next canvas.

I laid her curvaceous, 5-11 frame on a nearby bed and plunged shvantz-first between Robin's quivering thighs. Immediately, her eyes rolled back in her head, accompanied by the kind of shriek that comes from a hot piece of ass who hasn't even diddled a candy-stripe girl in months. The violent arch of Robin's back was like an orgasmic standing ovation. I plunged in and out of Robin's canal with sweaty urgency, driving her squeals to a pitch that only dogs could hear. That's when I recognized the rhythmic beeping of a heart-rate monitor.

"Oh, my God," I gasped, still ravaging Robin's fish hole. "We're screwing on top of Mrs. Reucroft!" The stethoscope-wielding slut was too fuck silly to concern herself with the Hippocratic oath.

"Who cares?" howled Robin, grinding her ass furiously enough to mash my nuts. "If the bitch were conscious, she'd love it!" I wasn't going to argue for a second opinion; after all, there did seem to be a smile on the old lady's comatose lips. Truth be told, Mrs. Reucroft wasn't bad for a vegetable. She resembled Ann-Margret with bigger hoots, which bounced out from under the hospital sheets each time Robin bucked her butt. Soon I was paying more attention to Mrs. Reucroft's mature, milky sacks and massive areolas than I was to Robin. Somehow I had to wake this sexy invalid; maybe Mrs. Reucroft would be so grateful, I could score her phone number.

Using every ounce of strength in my bandaged arm, I scooped up Robin's muscular legs, banging her ankles against the sides of Mrs. Reucroft's head in the process. My manhood plunged to such briny depths, I feared the bends with each withdrawal. Robin, now nearly in a naked handstand, somehow met my every impalement with an equally forceful lunge of her loins, and animal grunting.

"Harder, you dirty bastard," Robin spit through clenched teeth. "Fuck me hard enough to raise the dead!" After a few more firm strokes, she was speaking in tongues. I jammed my own tongue into Robin's mouth to quell the incoherent babbling, and was rewarded by the tear of her sharp teeth. Thank God the pulsing throb of her spasmodic vagus distracted me from the intense pain of Robin's bite.

"So Florence Nightingale likes to play rough," I said as fiercely as possible with my impaired speech. Before Robin could reply, I uncorked her hole and flipped the thermometer jockey onto her flat belly. My good hand pried open her rectum as I fumbled to whip the sheets off Mrs. Reucroft. The change of life had been kind to this foxy lady; her voluptuous bod and peck of red pubes gave my member the extra stiffness necessary to penetrate Robin's sphincters. The butt-plugged nurse forced herself up on all fours and eased back, stretching her bung to the breaking point. I slowly swung my hips, building up to the ramming speed that would force a flood of jism into Robin's colon.

The inevitable climax was delayed, however, when Robin burrowed her head between Mrs. Reucroft's lifeless legs, and noisily slurped at the poor, unsuspecting woman's snatch! Licking a comatose patient's pussy was going too far, even by my standards.

I barked, "Do you have any idea how much trouble you could get us into?" Even though I was red with moral indig-

No less than ten squack videos qualified for HUSTLER's coveted Fully Erect status in 1995. With two top-notchers from director Gregory Dark, and with Sodomania's Patrick Collins pulling a hard-core hat trick, it hardly seemed a year of surprises.

John Wayne Bobbitt Uncut and the Annabel Chong-versus-a-hangar-of-horn-dogs nightmare The World's Biggest Gangbang returned a flicker of old-school showmanship to modern porn marketing, but the tapes themselves were bleak and boring, onanistically useless.

The Year in Yanking

The reigning sin sirens of '95 were ball-blistering blondes Juli Ashton and Jenna Jameson, impossibly beautiful brunet savories Rebecca Lord and Vanessa Chase, and fire-maned Brit ginch Sarah-Jane Hamilton. Rayveness and Rachel Love contributed their huge, surgically unenhanced dairy cannons to the flesh feast; smolder pussy Careena Collins fucked with intoxicating, all-her-own abandon; Buttman's Big Butt Backdoor Babes showcased Eduarda, the most delectably perfect, full-figured teenager to ever blow and bone on film; tattooed girl skin lapsed from fashion; and the ten titles assembled below in alphabetical order are guaranteed to coax forth goo from even a half-hearted hand humper.

Happy new leers.

HUSTLER Picks the Ten Best Porn Tapes
95 of the Past 12 Months

THE BOTTOM DWELLER 33½

Directed by Patrick Collins • (Elegant Angel)

Two words: Careena Collins. Wad spurting. Hard fucking. Asshole fanatic. Cum gargling. Clit thumping. Jizz splashing. Meaty cunt. Dicked ass. Sweet sinner. Candy tits. Sugar nips. Bucking slut. Full throttle. Sperm facial. Desperate orgasms. Sincere lust. Do anything. Love everything. Fully Erect.

Compulsive Behavior delivers Teri Diver and Tom Elliot as the most inventively erotic smut maestros since Patrick Collins and John Leslie. Their plot-intensive, artfully laid-out debut boasts a pro-am cast numbering in the dozens and a unique, striking editing style that makes the sex scene tally seem like it veers into the hundreds. Compulsive Behavior's multitude of performers shine, the innovative filmmaking techniques are first fucking rate, and the masturbatory moments are innumerable.

COMPULSIVE BEHAVIOR

Directed by Teri Diver and Tom Elliot
(Odyssey Group Video)

COSTA RICA STUDIES

Directed by Max Steiner • (Private Video)

Private Video, long renowned for their exquisite European flesh epics, utilizes first-rate Yankee wank stars in Costa Rica Studies, and the result is a sublimely tantalizing international romp. Sally Layd leads a busload of lovelies on a lush getaway, where their every portal is double- and triple-nailed repeatedly in a nonstop series of mesmerizing sex junkets. Costa Rica Studies is an elegant primer in grade-A porn.

GANG-BANG GIRL 14

Directed by Biff Malibu • (Anabolic Video)

Vanessa Chase is 1995's ultimate discovery of dewy, incandescent, baby-faced lust. French fuck-stiletto Rebecca Lord is a sinewy, devastating marvel of lean muscle and lewd motion. Together, in Gang-

Bang Girl 14, Chase and Lord electrically lay waste to the rods of more than a dozen hard-dicked hard hats on a carnal construction site: The multi-meat marathon culminates with Chase sucking spuzz directly from Lord's labes, and the searing intensity is near unbelievable. Director Biff Malibu all but reinvents the clusterfuck with Gang-Bang Girl 14; strokers everywhere will all but bust their nuts in appreciation.

NEW WAVE HOOKERS 4

Directed by Gregory Dark • (VCA Platinum Plus)

"To understand the true nature of the feminine mind," intones Half Pint, the insane, midget narrator of New Wave Hookers 4, "you must first understand the mentality of the prostitute." Female sexuality's acquisitory underpinnings provide the philosophical backbone of New Wave Hookers 4; gland-bursting heat comes from over a dozen sumptuous gash-savories being sexed in demure settings while bedecked in bizarre costumes. New Wave Hookers 4 is an outrageous, erotic triumph.

SODOMANIA 9: DOING TIME

Directed by Patrick Collins • (Elegant Angel)

Getting tired of the works of kink-bent director Patrick Collins would, at this point, be tantamount to getting tired of having orgasms. In Sodomania 9 alone, hitchhiking slink slit Tiffany Mynx gets picked up by a dude and his bitch, takes their dildos in her every hole, eats the couple's butts, and then gets boned up her own. From there, cherubic Vanessa Chase is willingly molested by big man Roscoe Bowltree, followed by scintillating, sticky group sex, a voyeuristic schoolgirl-blowjob clip and a three-dick grudge porking of a saucy slut with a chip up her bung. Doing Time is the perfect way to do it.

SODOMANIA 11: IN YOUR FACE

Directed by Patrick Collins • (Elegant Angel)

Über-perv Pat Collins delivers a Sodomania tape again. This eleventh outing features a globe-spanning array of top-flight, fresh-faced, sizzle-snatched tyro-bangers again. Every scene is a raunchy revelation again.

Director Collins and his associates deservedly win a Fully Erect rating again. Readers who check out Sodomania 11: In Your Face will find themselves launching similar high praise...again and again and again.

Loony-bird filthmaker Gregory Dark conjures a king-hell fuck epic for his return to porn's vaunted Devil in Miss Jones series, and the result is a grand scale apocalypse of all things salacious and profane. A preposterous Old Nick assails delectable, blond, breasty Juli Ashton through a surreal series of eye-popping perversions. DMJ5 is a fitful continuation of the Miss Jones saga, a blazingly whack-worthy entry into the canon of outstanding X-rated entertainment.

GREGORY DARK'S DMJ5: THE INFERNO

Directed by Gregory Dark • (VCA Platinum Plus)

TAKIN' IT TO THE LIMIT 2

Directed by Bionca • (Bruce Seven Productions)

Squealing agonies of bestial delight emanate from the over-stuffed XXX holes in Takin' It to the Limit 2, and it sounds just right: Sumptuous Sarah-Jane Hamilton pucks her caboose for a three-man anal train; Krysti Lynn licks Sarah's oily anus; two dudes tandem-tamp the turd rings of two trollops, one of whom is Careena Collins; and Bionca sex-toy-batters a bimbo in preparation for four cocks to pump her butt and drop chum on her mug. This Bruce Seven production is as filthy and frenzied as anything the master of slime has ever perpetrated—it's perfectly at the limit, and beyond.

VIRGIN TREASURES VOLUME ONE

Directed by Frank Thring • (Private Video)

If an ideal world exists, it's almost as good as the landscape of Virgin Treasures Volume One. Sloe-eyed, juicy-lipped Brittania has smartly bobbed boobs, cropped hair and puts all she's got into lapping, jerking, sucking and going all starry for dick in her thin, trimmed, tan trim.

Brittania lights up Virgin Treasures' first fuck and its finale orgy, while in between a gaggle of jiggle-tittied ginches giggle and writhe through hard nailings, threeways, anal penetrations and gloppy shots to their pouters. Virgin Treasures is well worth uncovering.

about in HUSTLER—except one. "Mrs. Reucroft," I began. "Do you suppose I could talk you into giving me a gumjob?"

nation, the pistonning of Robin's seat meat against my crotch was dredging up a splooge deluge of cataclysmic proportions. Much to my amazement, Mrs. Reucroft sat straight up in bed and yanked Robin's mane back in the direction of her squack.

"There'll be trouble, all right," croaked Mrs. Reucroft through a matronly smile. "If you don't keep eating me out, I might sue you for malpractice!" Robin frantically mouthed the pink cunt folds as if administering the kiss of life. When Mrs. Reucroft caught an eyeful of my big johnson sinking into Robin's bum, she licked her lips with a hunger that the shitty hospital food couldn't satisfy. I practically leap-frogged over Robin to give her recovering patient a taste of meat—straight from the can.

"Mmm. It's been so long since my husband could even get it up," Mrs. Reucroft rhapsodized between mouthfuls. She gobbled my balls and jacked me off with the expertise of a seasoned old cocksucker, only stopping momentarily to guide Robin's tongue back to her love button. This three-way was like the fulfillment of every kinky act I'd ever read about in HUSTLER—except one.

"Mrs. Reucroft," I began sheepishly. "Do you suppose I could talk you into giving me a gumjob?" When she promptly pulled out her false choppers and still had an even sexier face than the one buried in her muff, I knew I had finally discovered the older woman of my dreams. The sensation of sliding my rod into that perfectly smooth, warm cavity was like nothing I've ever experienced. I almost lost my footing and fell onto the bed, but felt myself steadied from behind by Robin, who was orally exploring my enema-clean shitter. Mrs. Reucroft's mouth worked like an old-time Hoover vacuum cleaner on full blast; even when her head was perfectly still, I could feel the muscles in the back of her throat pulling at me with nad-churning force. Finally, I grabbed her by the head—gently, so as not to break anything—and fucked Mrs. Reucroft's toothless face like the world's biggest, red-haired pussy. I dropped my load with a sigh of relief.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Reucroft hadn't even worked her way up to swallowing chicken soup, let alone a torrential gush of salty semen. She gagged and coughed out my cock, which continued to spray sperm like an out-of-control garden hose. Robin took her face out of my ass long enough to panic.

"Oh, no," she cried. "You're not getting jizz all over these sheets after I just had them washed. It's unsanitary!" Instinctively, she milked my pud into a nearby bedpan, then licked it clean in a cum-drunk frenzy.

Two days later I received a bill for $25,000. I hope my health insurance covers "felching."

UNIDENTIFIED FUCKING OBJECT

You all probably won't believe I saw a flying saucer. My buddy Herschell didn't believe me when I came over to smoke grass and ogle his pigtailed younger sister, Donita, who walks around the house with ass spilling out of her cut-off jeans.

"You didn't see no goddamn aliens," said Herschell, without even taking his mouth off the bong. "Ever since we been little kids, you see crazy shit when we smoke wacky weed. Remember last week, when you thought I was Cindy Crawford and tried to screw me in the ass?"

I punched him in the back and whispered, "Shut the fuck up, Herschell!" Donita was walking to the front door, her car keys jingling with every bounce of her bodacious butt. A checkered halter-top was hardly enough to contain the two massive titties I thought about every night as I choked my chicken in the woods. When Donita left, I told Herschell, "I'd sure love to grab your sister's pigtails like the handlebars of my Harley and do her from behind."

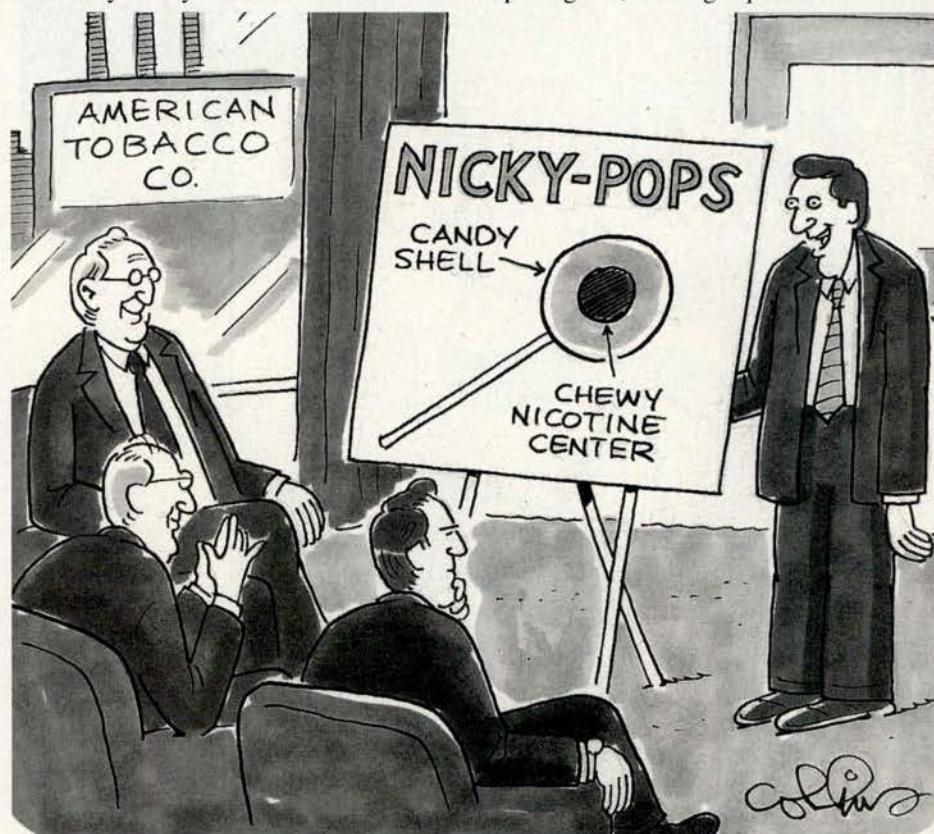

Herschell got mad and said, "You'd better get the fuck out of here. We smoked a whole bowl, and any minute you're bound to start thinking I'm Pamela Anderson."

Moments later, I was out in the dark woods with my pants around my ankles. My meat-beating was interrupted by a sudden burst of white light. The UFO I'd seen had returned! As a door on the spacecraft opened and a mysterious figure stepped out, I started to panic.

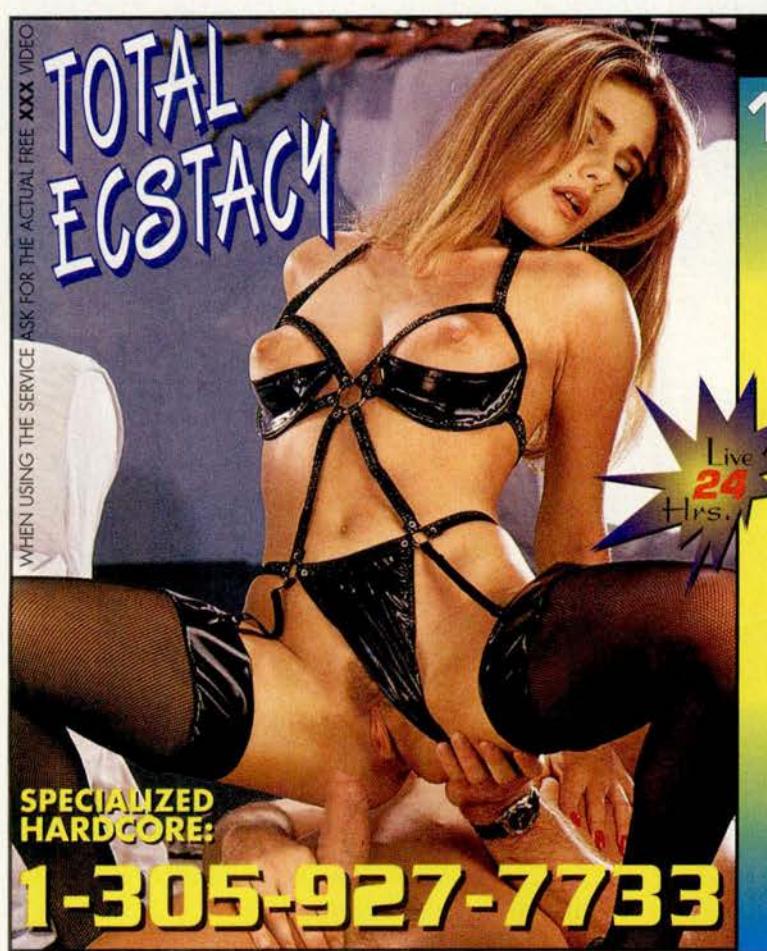

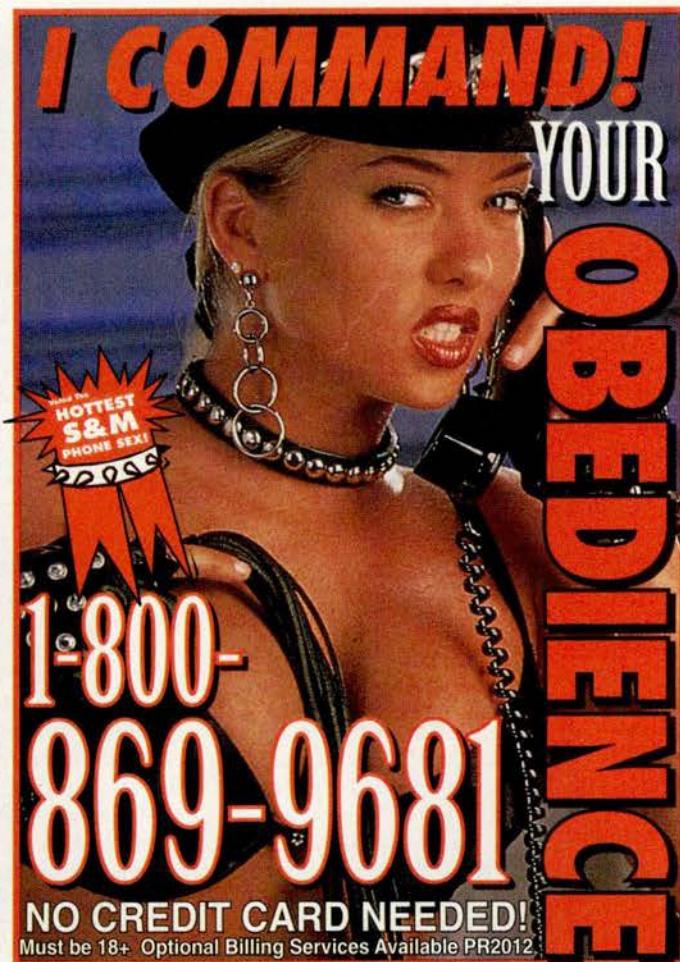

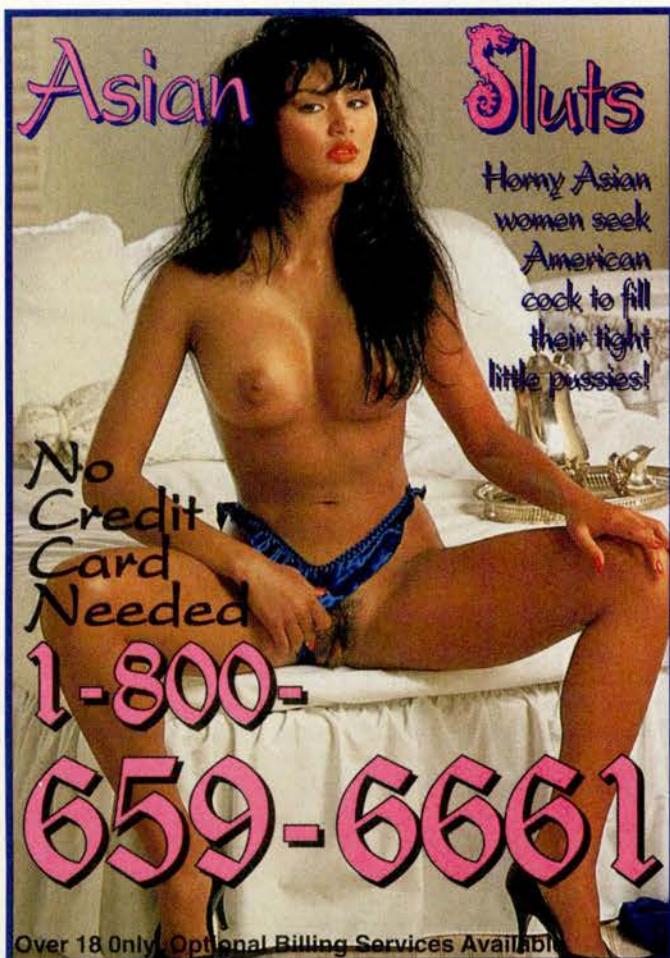

"Hey, E. T.," I yelled over the roar of the ship's powerful, advanced engine. "Are you hostile, or have you come from a planet with no men, and you want my sperm to propagate your dying, alien race?"

The creature approached me, silhouetted in the blinding glare. "Uhh...I come in peace," it said in a weird, high-pitched voice. "Now how about coming in my piece?" I was too stoned to think or see clearly, but it seemed like the alien was horny; and for an alien, this thing had some pretty nice curves. As a matter of fact, its outline looked the same as any hot, 18-year-old piece of ass, except for two droopy antennas on its head.

I slid my hand between the alien's smooth, hairless legs, and was pleased to feel the familiar peach fuzz of pussy—no matter what the species. There was an opening too, although quite a bit smaller than the women of Earth I usually score. Just like those two-bit whores, however, a few quick moves of my talented fingers had the alien breathing heavy and creaming against my palm.

"We think we've found a way around the President; it's the delicious candy shell with a chewy nicotine center."

Hot Letters

The alien removed the top half of her spacesuit and unleashed two gargantuan bazooms that were definitely not of this earth. They were smooth as baby butt, with tiny nipples that grew more erect with every touch. I sucked those mams like a man possessed until the alien begged me to quit—she didn't want to come so quickly. I had this alien turned on beyond belief. She returned the favor by unzipping my fly and taking my raging hard-on in her mouth. Unfortunately, they must not have oral sex on other planets, because the alien didn't seem to know what she was doing. After I grabbed her antennas and bobbed her head up and down in my lap, however, she was swallowing cock like a faggot in no time. If only I could get a better look—for all I knew, the creature choking down my peter could have blue skin and three eyes. Those minor details didn't seem to matter when the alien climbed on top of me and forced her tight, red-hot snatch onto my cock.

"It hurrts," she moaned. "Don't stop!"

As my hands dug into her rubbery, baby-fat ass, I realized this alien had a virgin pussy! My crank had boldly gone where no man—or thing—had gone before. I held onto her loudly slapping floppers and fucked harder than ever. This was a historic moment, and I was going to make it count.

Suddenly the alien unleashed a piercing scream, the likes of which I can only compare to running over a possum in my pick-up truck. "My asshole," she panted. "Stick it further up my asshole!" At first I thought maybe this advanced race had their taints on backward. Gradually, however, my eyes focused on a familiar face, grinning over the alien's shoulder—Herschell! Me and my best buddy were double-stuffing a space virgin. This was even better than the time we pulled a train on Mrs. Sherman in tenth grade. While tearing into the alien's slit, and feeling every muscle in her body tense with climax, I couldn't help slapping Herschell a high five.

"Come on my tits," commanded the alien. Under some kind of weird, hypnotic control, Herschell and I simultaneously unplugged her holes, and aimed our hoses at her bounteous bosom. Hot, ropy spurts of jizz sailed through the night air, splashing against the alien's face and torso. She hungrily lapped up the last dribbles from our leaky faucets, and sucked at her spunk-encrusted fingers. Probably storing the chemical composition in her super computer-like brain, I figured. Without even bothering to climb back into her flimsy spacesuit, the alien jumped up and ran back toward the bright glare of the ship.

"Wait," I hollered. "You can't leave! What about sloppy seconds?"

She returned and grabbed my crotch, cooing, "I'll be right here." With a thunderous noise and the smell of exhaust, the lights took off into the sky. At least, I think they did. I was distracted by bottle rockets some kids were setting off in the woods.

Herschell and I walked back to his place to smoke another bowl. We were just in time to see Donita come out of the shower in a tiny bath towel. I told Herschell, "Being the first man on earth to fuck a space alien is pretty cool, but I'd give it all for a roll in the hay with your sister." Later that night, he punched me in the face when I called him Heather Locklear. —N. R.

The Joy of Farting Together

By Roberto Santiago

Tom, a 36-year-old furniture-store salesman, is relaxing in his favorite easy chair, his eyes darting back and forth between the Raiders game and the golden-blond head bobbling in his lap. After three months of dating, he and 24-year-old Sally are still just getting acquainted—she doesn't know about his ex-wives yet, or his very brief stay in prison—but Tom is really into her. Her exceptional cocksucking is only the icing on the cake of her lush, baby-doll looks, sweet temperament, ability to support herself financially and Grace Kelly-like coolness and elegance.

During a time-out, Sally draws her sticky lips up Tom's shaft, looks him in the eye, then dives down until her teeth scrape the furry base of his cock. Tom moans and thinks, I don't want to blow this one.

He blows one. A long, high squeal like a tea-kettle whistle slips out of his asshole before the distracted Tom can clench his cheeks and keep the noxious gas from assaulting Sally's perilously close nostrils.

Shit—I'm history, Tom thinks as the scent of very old beans fills the air. And I'm the jerkoff who insisted on soy-cheese burritos. He reaches for his dick before the grievously insulted Sally can bite it off and leave forever.

But Sally just pauses, fans the air dramatically and smirks, "I think we'll skip the rimjob tonight, honey." She resumes nibbling his shaft.

For Tom, it's true love. Tomorrow, he'll buy a ring. And maybe, in time, he'll be given the opportunity to prove his love in the face of Sally's butt stench.

* * *

The most intimate, private and endearing act a man can share with a woman—the act that demonstrates true love, commitment and acceptance—is not making love. It's not tearfully confessing his fears and weaknesses.

It's farting in front of her.

"When looking at my past relationships with women, I realize that I might have sucked their toes, lent them money, cried in their arms—but seldom have I ever farted in front of them, or they in front of me," admits Andre, an accountant from Portland, Oregon.

Men will hold their ass gas while engaged in polite conversations with women they are dating, knowing full well that a sudden trumpet blast from the buttocks would end the affair on the spot. Farting is the last thing a man does in a relationship. Farting is what a man does after he and his woman have seen each other urinate or moved in together. It never happens during courtship.

But why is society

so tight-assed when it comes to farting?

"Farting, like moving one's bowels, is thought of as being dirty, and something that should be done privately," explains New York City sex therapist Dr. Judy Kuriansky, author of Generation Sex (Harper Paperbacks, 1995) and host of a sex-advice radio show, Love Phones. "So when farting is done in front of someone else, it becomes an act open to interpretation. Is it comfort or contempt? It all depends on how strong the relationship is, and how well the man and woman know each other."

Jeff, an actor from Los Angeles, California, says that, as with his first kiss, he will never forget his first fart.

"I was sitting on the couch with my girlfriend, Molly, watching a video, and I released a fart that sounded like someone had stepped on a duck," Jeff remembers. "It snuck up on me, and we laughed at it. And then I realized that we had been living together for two years and had never farted in front of each other. Any time I had to fart, I would excuse myself and go to the bathroom. No more! Every now and then, Molly will blanch and gag, but in general she doesn't mind my gas. It's so much more comfortable and convenient to fart while in her arms."

For Don, a restaurant worker from Miami Beach, Florida, there is often a feeling of pride when he cuts a really bad fart that stinks of rotten eggs or fermented pork.

"Men like me are the true Pepe LePews of the world," he declares. "We bring romance and stench as one."

One night after letting a stink bomb go off in bed, Don thoughtfully pulled his girlfriend, Sondra, under the covers and held her so that she could savor his intestinal perfume.

But frequent bed farts can lead to paranoia and mistakes in judgment. One night, Don was awakened by a foghorn blast. He sat straight up in bed.

"Damn!" Don yelled.

"What is it? What is it?" Sondra asked, suddenly waking.

"I thought you farted!"

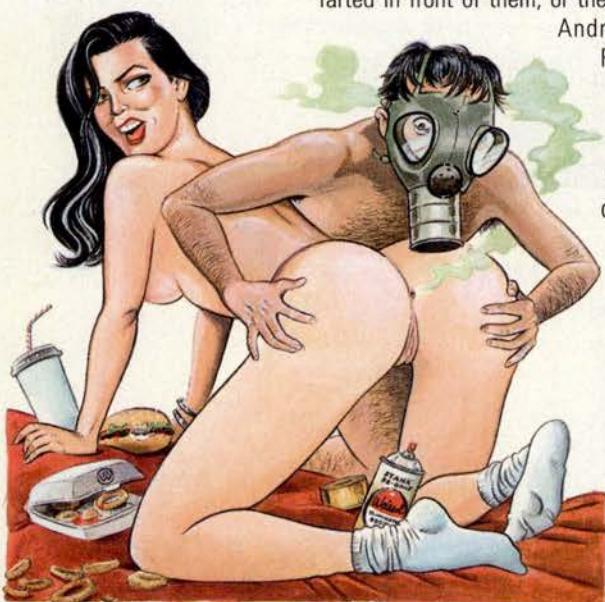

"Don belts out the smelly ones, and I belt out the loud ones," Sondra shrugs. "I put up with his as much as he puts up with mine. No double standards here."

But Michael, an engineer from Jersey City, New Jersey, thinks there is a double standard when it comes to farting. He remembers being furious when a woman he had just begun an affair with farted in front of him.

"I had known Debbie for less than a week, and she was stinking up my bedroom," Michael recalls. He immediately stopped seeing her, but couldn't understand why he was so repelled. "I had worked my finger up her ass while I ate her pussy, but the idea that she would fart disgusted me."

Judy Kuriansky believes that women are far more tolerant about farting than men are.

"If a woman farts first, men often get offended," says the therapist. "Sometimes they do not forgive. There was one caller to Love Phones who says he was performing oral sex on his girlfriend, when she suddenly farted in his face. He was so mad that he never spoke to her again. When it is the other way around, a woman understands that it is an accident. It is the nature of women to be more forgiving."

"If someone gets mad at a fart, then the love cannot be true," Andre maintains. "I never farted in front of women that I didn't love, but for my fiancee, Christina, I reserve my most putrid butt blasts."

Some people interpret a fart as meaning that the person is defecating on them, posits Kuriansky, because, in most cases, a fart indicates that the body is ready for a bowel movement.

"A fart sometimes occurs when people are highly excited during sex, and it slips out," she says. "It's not personal. It's just the body reacting to sexual excitement."

When it comes to cutting the cheese, Kuriansky recommends that couples lay down ground rules.

"If a fart happens accidentally, and the other person is offended, the one who farted should apologize and state that he or she did not do it on purpose," Kuriansky advises. "A relationship should not end on account of a fart."

But Fred, a high-school teacher from Knoxville, Tennessee, understands Michael's repulsion toward Debbie so early in their relationship.

"Sex is one thing," Fred declares, "but you have to deeply love someone to tolerate their smells and noises." In fact, he adds, "Wanna test out how strong your live-in relationship is? Squeeze out a little fart next time. If your partner walks out, they weren't worth it in the first place."

Andre, the accountant, agrees that farting is a test of a couple's love.

"If someone gets mad at a fart, then the love cannot be true," Andre maintains. "I never farted in front of women that I didn't love, but for my fiancee, Christina, I reserve my most putrid butt blasts."

That lucky girl says she was offended at first by Andre's farting, but quickly learned that it was an act of endearment, not disrespect.

Now, says Christina, "If Andre farted in front of another woman, it would be as bad as cheating. I was insecure about allowing myself to fart in front of Andre, but when I finally did, it brought us closer together. It showed how much we trusted and cared about each other."

"There are two days I treasure the most," Andre says. "The day I asked Christina to marry me, and the day she first cut one in front of me."

Christina adds: "Farting, like love, means never having to say, 'I'm sorry.'"

And, like love, a fart sometimes doesn't last forever.

Joe, a musician living in Phoenix, Arizona, says that once he breaks up with a lover, the farting stops.

"One night, I was going through old photographs of my ex-wife, Darcy, and I tried to remember the last time I heard her fart," he relates. "I couldn't remember, and it brought me to tears. The once-taboo act had become so commonplace that it had faded from memory."

Joe says he sees Darcy from time to time, as friends, but they will never share a fart again.

"To fart in front of a woman I am no longer intimate with is to invite disrespect," he says.

Aside from anal anxiety, there are other sources of fart fear, such as queefing, or varts (gas released from the vagina after sexual intercourse).

"Varts are produced during sexual intercourse when air gets trapped in the vaginal canal during the thrusting," Judy Kuriansky explains. "Some men mistake the sound for gas being released from the anus. But a vart is different from a fart. A vart does not have a bacteria-based odor. A vart is no more offensive than a burp."

Jeff the actor says he will never forget how he felt when he heard Molly honk out a series of varts from her vagina as the two lay locked in post-coital bliss. Given the choice between ass gas and pussy farts, he declares, he will pick a blast from the butt every time.

"Varts scare me," Jeff admits. "It sounds like the pussy is mad and is yelling at me for fucking it."

"When it comes to relationships," says Kuriansky, "to each his own offense. How we react to bodily functions like burps, farts or nose-picking often stems from our childhood.

The angrier our parents reacted to our performing a certain act in front of them, the more likely we are to become offended by that act."

Kuriansky advises people who are not sure how their lover will react to their farts to release any trapped gas from their intestines in the bathroom prior to sex.

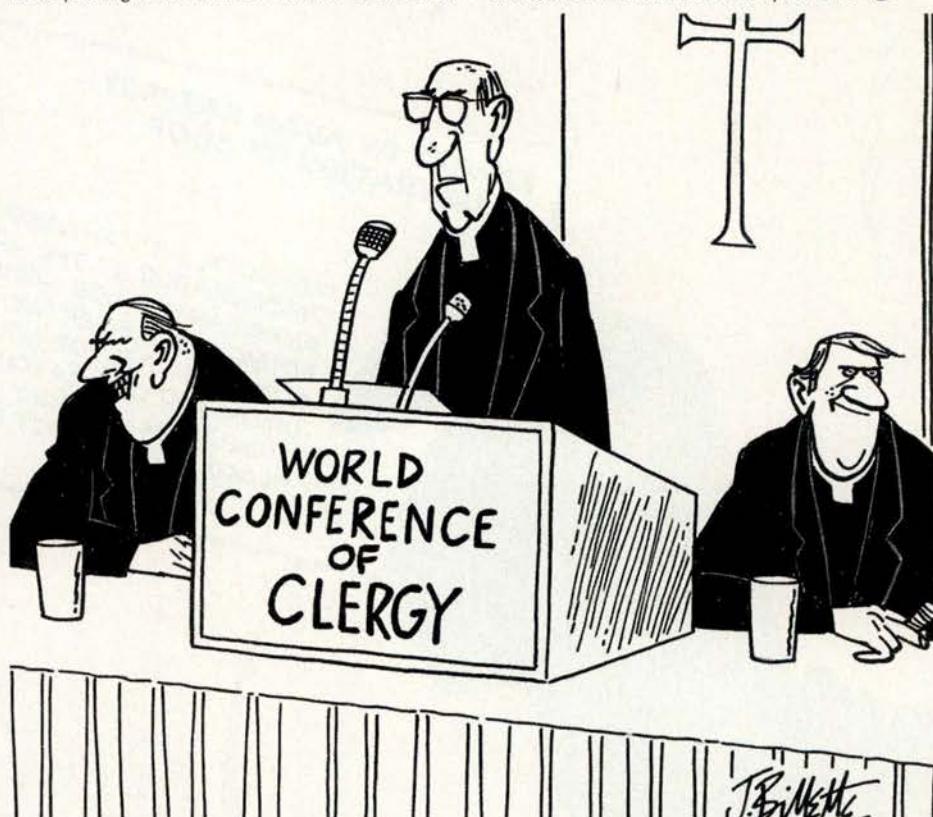

"Sitting on the bowel, bent over, and pressing down on your lower abdomen will release any trapped gas," she instructs. "The best way to save yourself any humiliation from gas is to have an enema before sex, but that is not always possible."

Gregory, a banker from Brooklyn, New York, says that those remedies may work in the short run, but there is one cardinal rule for farting.

"You should only fart in front of someone you know, love and care about very deeply," he asserts. "My wife, Hallie, and I fart in front of each other every day like it was nothing. If you can laugh at your farts, you can laugh at yourself. Farting maintains a sense of humor in a relationship. I think farting can actually save marriages."

"But there are limits," Hallie pipes in. "If we eat fast-food hamburgers, onion rings or fried chicken and milk, we excuse ourselves, run to the bathroom and shut the door."

Gregory nods furiously. "Sometimes, just sometimes, there are smells too stinky for love."

"This morning we'll discuss the very serious issue of child molestation. How can we keep doing it and not get caught?"

Foreign dating services dangled as their carrot a one-way ticket out of Perestroika hell to the Promised Land, where supermarkets overflow with gristle-free comestibles.

Editor's Note: All names have been changed.

The game was over as soon as McDonald's opened its doors near Red Square in Moscow. It was like placing a naked, buxom wench in the midst of a thousand sex-starved convicts. The Big Mac fantasy did not stop at hamburgers and fries; McMales with McCars and McHouses had become an irresistible lure for goods-starved Russian women. Up sprung the foreign dating services, which dangled as their carrot a one-way ticket out of Perestroika hell to the Promised Land, where supermarkets overflow with gristle-free comestibles, and the men aren't stinking drunk on potato vodka from before noon until existential day's end.

Nakhoda (translation: "Godsend") is one of many Moscow-based agencies that send photos and vital statistics of aspiring Amerikanskis to stateside businesses such as Scanna International, a Pittsford, New York, pen-pal clearinghouse that supplies American men with spiral-bound booklets displaying the exotic merchandise. For page after photocopied page, kohl-smudged nubiles stare uncertainly at the hope of a "better life." Perusing these puppy-eyed pretties is more overwhelming than a trip to the dog pound. A num-

#115-F5. Elena S. 24 yrs, 5' 7", 125 lbs., gray-green eyes, musical teacher, from Petropavlovsk, never married. "My character is contradictory. About my shortcomings, I'll write in future letters. My dignities are faithfulness, I'm a good housekeeper, soft and gentle, emotional." Seeks WM, intelligent, mature, decent, educated, interested in family life, music, art. Writes English, Russian.

#108-F5. Irina B. 21 yrs, 5' 11", 153 lbs., brown eyes, student, from Sverdlosk, never married. "I am not a bore. I easily get on with people. I like order, neatness. I am fond of cycling, travels. I am beautiful and have a good figure." Seeks WM, well-educated, family-oriented, fond of children, over 28. Writes English, Russian.

Scanna began in 1980 as a conduit for Scandinavian-American matches, but its most fecund female resource is the former Soviet Union. The company puts out two booklets every three to four weeks, each with 200 new ladies. One booklet includes women from all of Europe and North and South America; the other is entirely Russian. Nearly 10,000 Russian matrimonial hopefuls are ogled and judged by an estimated field of 2,500 men each year.

A 40-page booklet sells for $5, but the company makes its money by selling addresses at $10 apiece—or $7 if ten or more are bought at one time. A Scanna employee says that men tend to "play the numbers game and get a lot of addresses at once."

Take Ed Burden, a middle-aged, San Diego, California, airline pilot with a small tire around the middle who corresponds with six or seven women. Ed uses a word processor to write to his prospective brides. ("There's no goddamn way you can write individual letters to 'em.") He has a sheaf of annotated file folders, each containing letters and photos from a Russian girl contacted through Scanna.

"I tell each gal that she oughta send me more photos," drones Ed, as he displays letters and snapshots of Russian women doing their best to look alluring. "It's hard to tell what they look like in the Scanna books."

One letter, painstakingly handwritten in English, reads:

Very pleasantly capturing your lines of thoughtfulness. Sensitive of your soul. My marriage not happen to be happy. Not experience mutual happiness and manifestation of tenderness for me. My husband is money only but he forgot about senses. I don't want it to be resemble bird in golden coop to feast one's eyes from far away. I want to have mutual understanding, intercourse, love from my husband. Many women see in Russian husband only tightly shut purse.

"I wrote her back and said I wanted to have intercourse with her," jokes Burden.

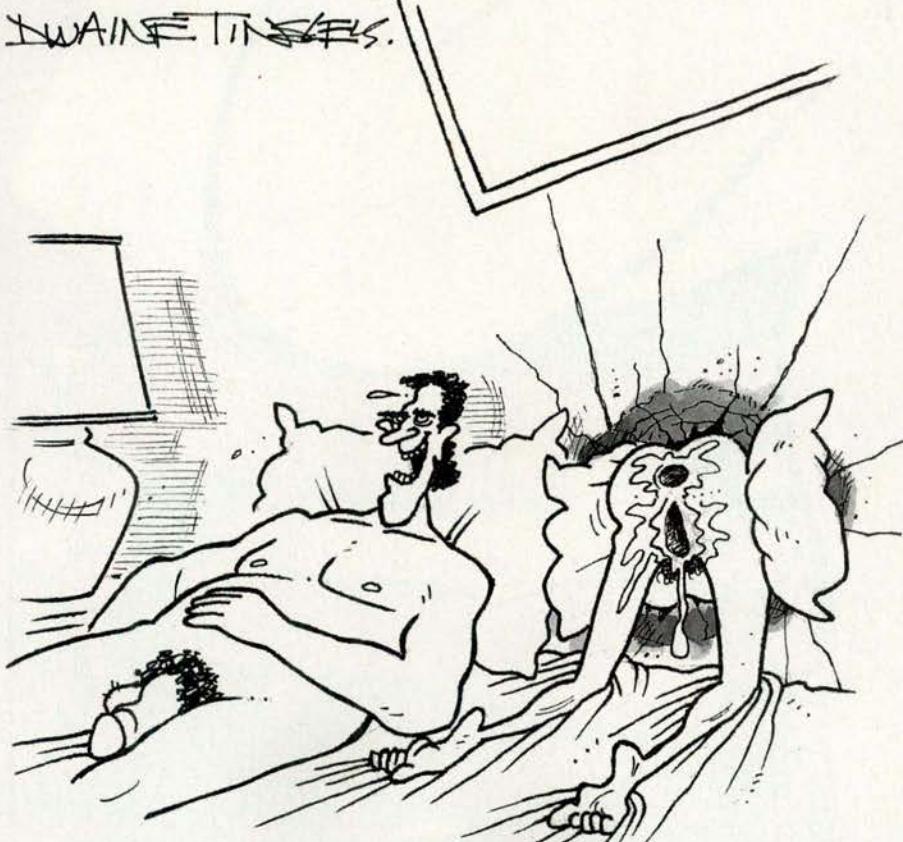

"The Russian-women thing makes sense to me," he says more seriously. "I can fly over there for free. Soon I'm going to spend a month in Moscow. Have all these gals come out at one time or another from where they're at. Vladivostok, wherever. I don't know who I'm going to like, if any of 'em. You have to meet 'em."

Another young girl, 23 maybe, divorced, with a child of four, writes:

I like to look films, read books, knitting, outing and make merry with my friends. Well, now about my country. My country in dense political passion. Hardly don't happen. But all for the present fine. Out will neutralize with supreme effort. Shed a blood and this afraid of myself. I close my letter with dictionary.

Her having a child doesn't phase Ed.

What a thrill when the first little tuft of dark, downy fur sprouted just above my lips! How happy I was when it grew and grew until the black tendrils curled around the lacy leg holes of my white-cotton panties!"

"But then it wouldn't stop growing," frowns Melanie. "I looked like Dr. Zira from Planet of the Apes. My boyfriends were hacking up hair balls. Well, I don't want anything getting in the way of my pussy's pleasure. I didn't know how good I had it when I was ten years old, but now guys will."

He thinks he's a rock star. Usually, he's the guy who's got dates with three or four girls and ends up with nobody."

"As a matter of fact," he observes, "that would probably be a safer bet than having a single gal come over here that has no kids. With no kids, she might be inclined to wander."

"I wrote to the Russian gals just to see what they were thinking. I told them that a lot of women in the United States will marry a guy because he's got money, and a woman won't necessarily be real sincere about devotion and love. And what do you think about this? I mean, I don't want to be hoodwinked by one of these gals when all she wants to do is get the hell out of her country."

* * *

Letters are one thing; getting the men within kissing distance of the women is another. Southern California immigration attorney Jerry Perkins points out the difficulty of getting the women over to the United States on a traveler's visa.

"Only about one out of 20 can get over that way," he says. "It's a real crap shoot."

The alternative is to travel to Russia, meet the girls there, make a choice and file for a fiancee visa, which usually takes four months to get processed. When a girl comes to the United States on a fiancee visa, she has 90 days to get married, or she has to go back to Russia. If she gets married, she must file Adjustment Status, then be interviewed by the Immigration Naturalization Service (INS). The interview can occur anywhere from two to 13 months after filing.

"That interview starts the clock when she can become permanent," explains Perkins, "which means if she gets divorced the next day she can still stay here forever. Some will wait until they file the form, and the next day, psssst! She's gone. But will that happen? The men, they're pretty decent guys. They're not going to be alcoholics. In Russia, it's unbelievable."

Perkins handles referrals from the mail-order Scanna International and from a West Coast-based company that takes matchmaking a step further by arranging tours to the Motherland.

"There are people out there who go through their whole life ordering pictures and not doing anything about it," asserts Mark Farber, the head of the tour service. "They're photo junkies."

His company pares down the photo fetishism by capping a limit on photos and addresses, which are used primarily to whet members' appetites for regularly scheduled trips to Moscow.

Farber pops in a video of one of the banquets he held recently in Moscow. On-screen, a flotilla of females tarted up like starry-eyed groupies surrounds a group of painfully ordinary American bachelors.

"If a guy finds a wife through me, there are three things I guarantee him," brags Farber. "She's going to be younger, she's going to be prettier, and she's going to be far better educated than her Western counterpart."

Every man who signs up on a tour is obliged to sign a contract stipulating a $3,000 payment "after client has found a suitable mate and married them." The three-grand lump sum does not include tour, attorney and correspondence expenses. The membership kit explains the high cost: "We realize three thousand dollars is a substantial sum, but when you put it up against what you spend for a car, and accept the limited utility and pleasure you receive for so many thousands more, a lifetime mate seems a bargain by comparison."

"No one has come right out and said I'm peddling women, because there are too many dating services to do that," Farber declares. He says critics attack his clients instead.

"They say, 'What type of person would go for a woman in Russia as opposed to one here if he weren't a loser?' Yeah, right. Some of my losers are judges, doctors, owners of major corporations."

As for the motives of these men, says Farber, "On my last trip there were some very nice guys, and there were some playboys. Before the trip was over, every one of my playboys was engaged. And the nice guys turned into playboys."

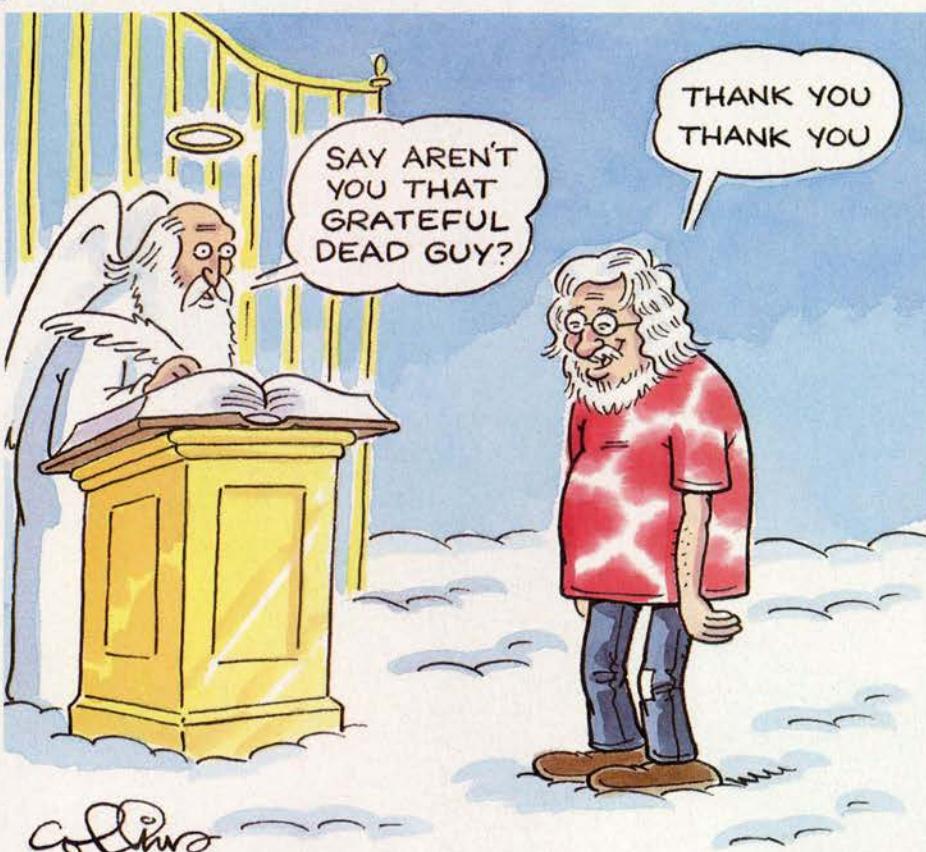

"Sometimes a guy will go to that first meeting in Russia, and it goes to his head," agrees Jerry Perkins. "He thinks he's a rock star. Usually, he's the guy who's got dates with three or four girls an afternoon and ends up with nobody."

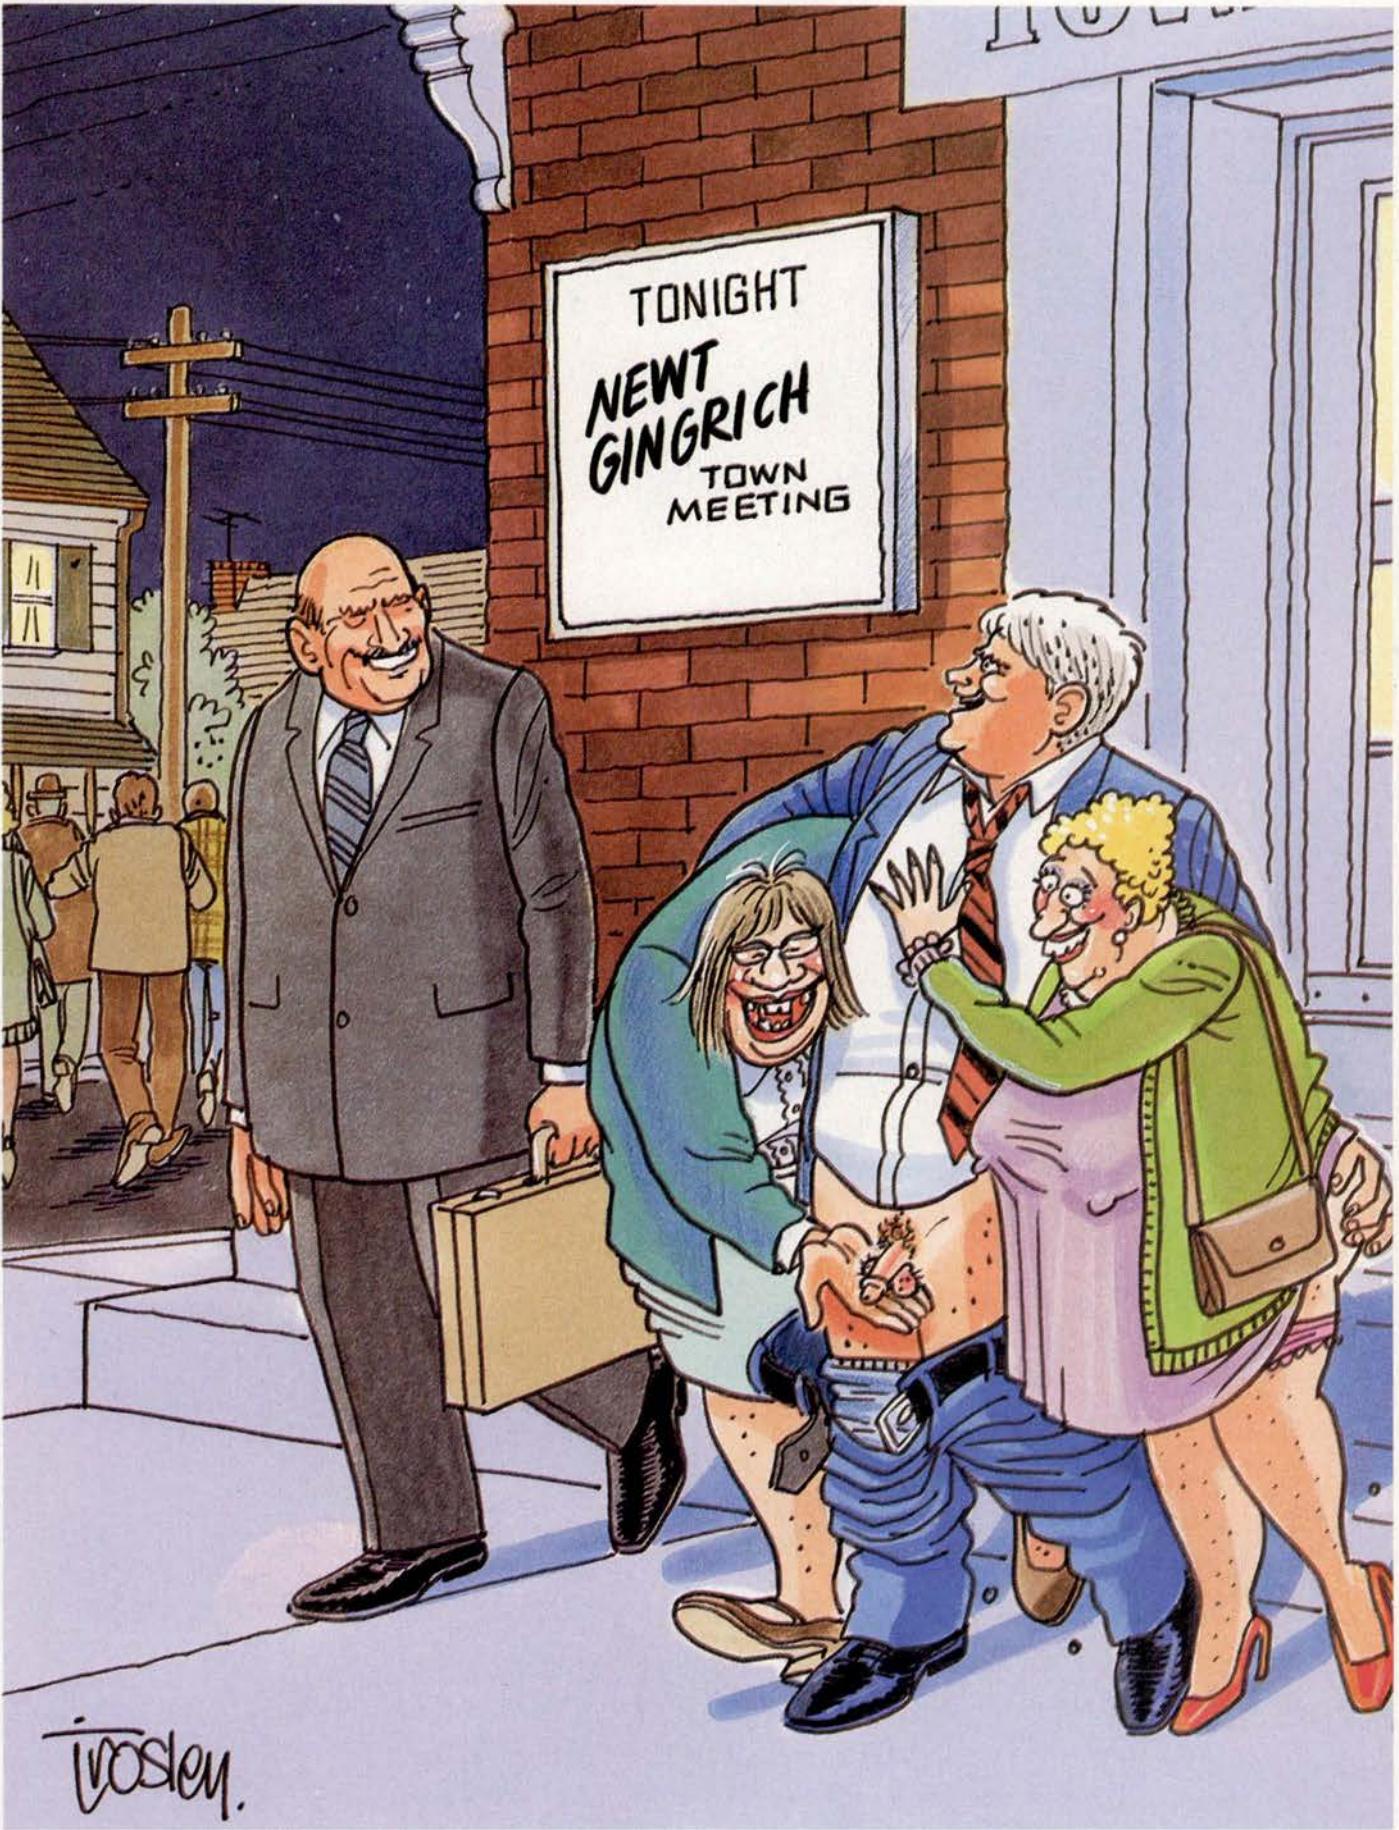

Perkins's first trip with the tour—strictly in a business capacity—went to his head in an entirely different way.

"I've raised a son by myself, and now he's finally in college; so I was going to be a free man and start a social life," relates Perkins. "The first meeting I got to, there were about 75 women there. I panned from right to left with my mouth hanging open. The women were all so beautiful. I just couldn't believe it."

"Way in the corner, there was a girl—she looked just like Brooke Shields, eyes about this big. She just smiled, and I smiled. She said, 'Are you tired?' and that caught me off-guard. I said, 'Pardon me?' And she said, in English, 'Are you very tired?' I invited her to dinner, and we've been together ever since. And you know, she was born the same day, the same year, that Brooke Shields was."

Perkins believes that Russian women

Ed Burden does not foresee virtue as a problem when he finally makes it to have many reasons for wanting to desert their native land, aside from the imagined riches to be found in America.

Moscow. "I've talked to guys who've been over there, and they said don't just take a couple of condoms, take a box."

"The Soviet women admire Americans because they smile easily," he maintains. "You and I wouldn't smile easily if we had to live over there. There are certain mannerisms the men have over there, that in the United States would be considered totally gross. The sidewalks are all covered with beetle juice, because they don't have dentists, and when they get cavities, they get this beetle juice as an anesthetic, and they spit. It's disgusting. All over the place. Things like that, the women over there don't like. The women over there are fantastic; they really are."

The born-again-Christian lawyer particularly admires Russian women's traditional chasteness.

But Ed Burden, the airline pilot, does not foresee virtue as a problem when he finally makes it to Moscow.

"I've talked to guys who've been over there," he confides, "and they said don't just take a couple of condoms, take a box. They'll be fucking your brains out."

* * *

There's the distinct smell of lubricated condom as David Greenspan opens the door to his Orange County, California, town house. He excuses himself as he finishes buttoning up his pants. Screams and shrieks of terror echo from an upstairs television.

"Russian lady upstairs," grins the bird-like, middle-aged lawyer.

Greenspan explains his interest in Russian women.

"See, we spoil them in this country," he asserts. "They all are looking for their Superman, so to speak. They see TV, they see Kevin Costner, they see heroes. They're quite demanding, and there's so many people, it's easy come, easy go. If you are one of the few who have very wonderful endowments, you're okay. It's difficult for me because I'm past my prime. It gets harder and harder to compete. The thing about this country, even if they're Gravel Gerties, they'll make demands."

Greenspan has what he calls a predilection for Scandinavian types, which is why he hooked up with Scanna in the first place, but soon after joining, he gravitated toward Russian ladies.

"I hate to talk this way about human beings, but you have to," he says. "The real good stuff that was Scandinavian wasn't going through Scanna. I saw some of the Eastern Europeans, and that caught my eye. Of all the countries Scanna was promoting, the best source was Russia. The other countries weren't getting the prime material. Whoever was applying would be no better than what you might get over here in some of the singles magazines."

Greenspan has had vast—and disappointing—experience with the American singles scene.

"I never met anybody that I had a relationship with," he admits. "At most, it might have been a second date. And there was just so much baggage with all that stuff. Aside from the fact that nine out of ten of them, you don't recognize in person from the photographs. It was such an ordeal. You lose the better part of an evening if you meet somebody after work."

"But Scanna—I was flabbergasted. There was just no place I know where you see that kind of quality. But, there are dangers. Motivation is obvious. People there are under the crunch. Although I will say this: The correspondence I've had has all been high-quality. The Russian women seem to be serious-minded. It's none of this like in America where a woman tells you what she likes—she wants to know what kind of car you have, she wants to know if you like fine dining. You don't get any kind of that stuff from the Russian women."

He sent invitations to about two dozen ladies to come visit him in the States, but only the woman upstairs was able to get a visa.

Greenspan lowers his voice to a whisper. "I'm very happy with this one. I go to work, and what does she do? Nothing. Now if I had an American girl, let's say from Florida, she'd be taking one of my cars. I don't know if it'd come back in one hundred percent condition. She might take off for a weekend. That's what you get with the American stuff. You get a little note: 'I had to go to Las Vegas, meet somebody there. Back Monday.' With my car and whatever."

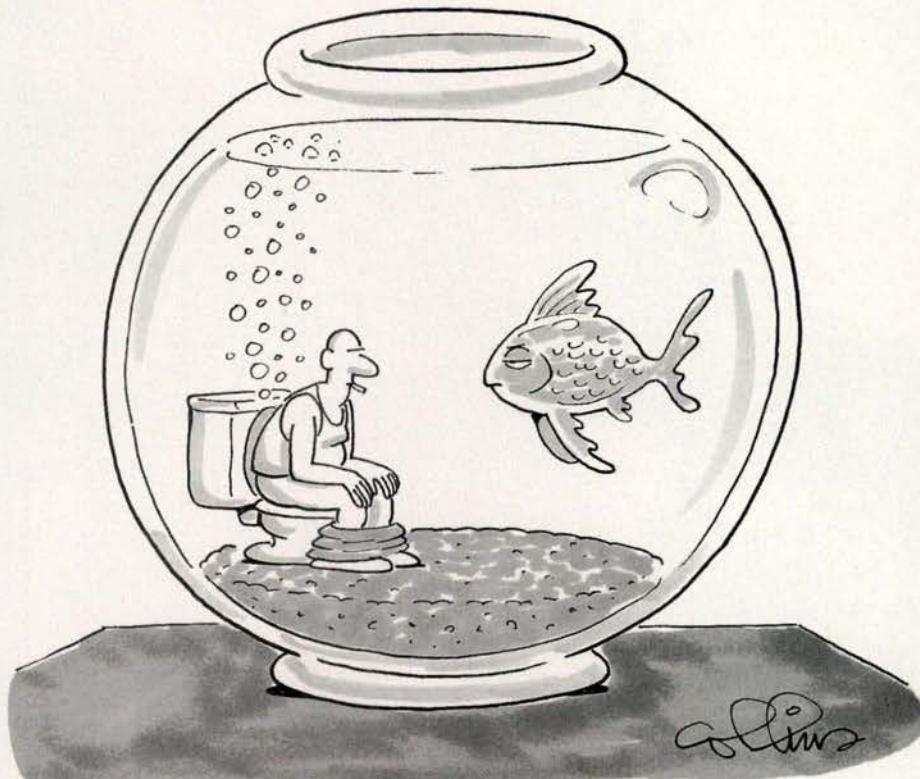

"I get a feeling with these Russian people. You can trust 'em as far as any valuables. Most of them don't drive, which is nice, in the sense that you don't have to worry about them commandeering anything."

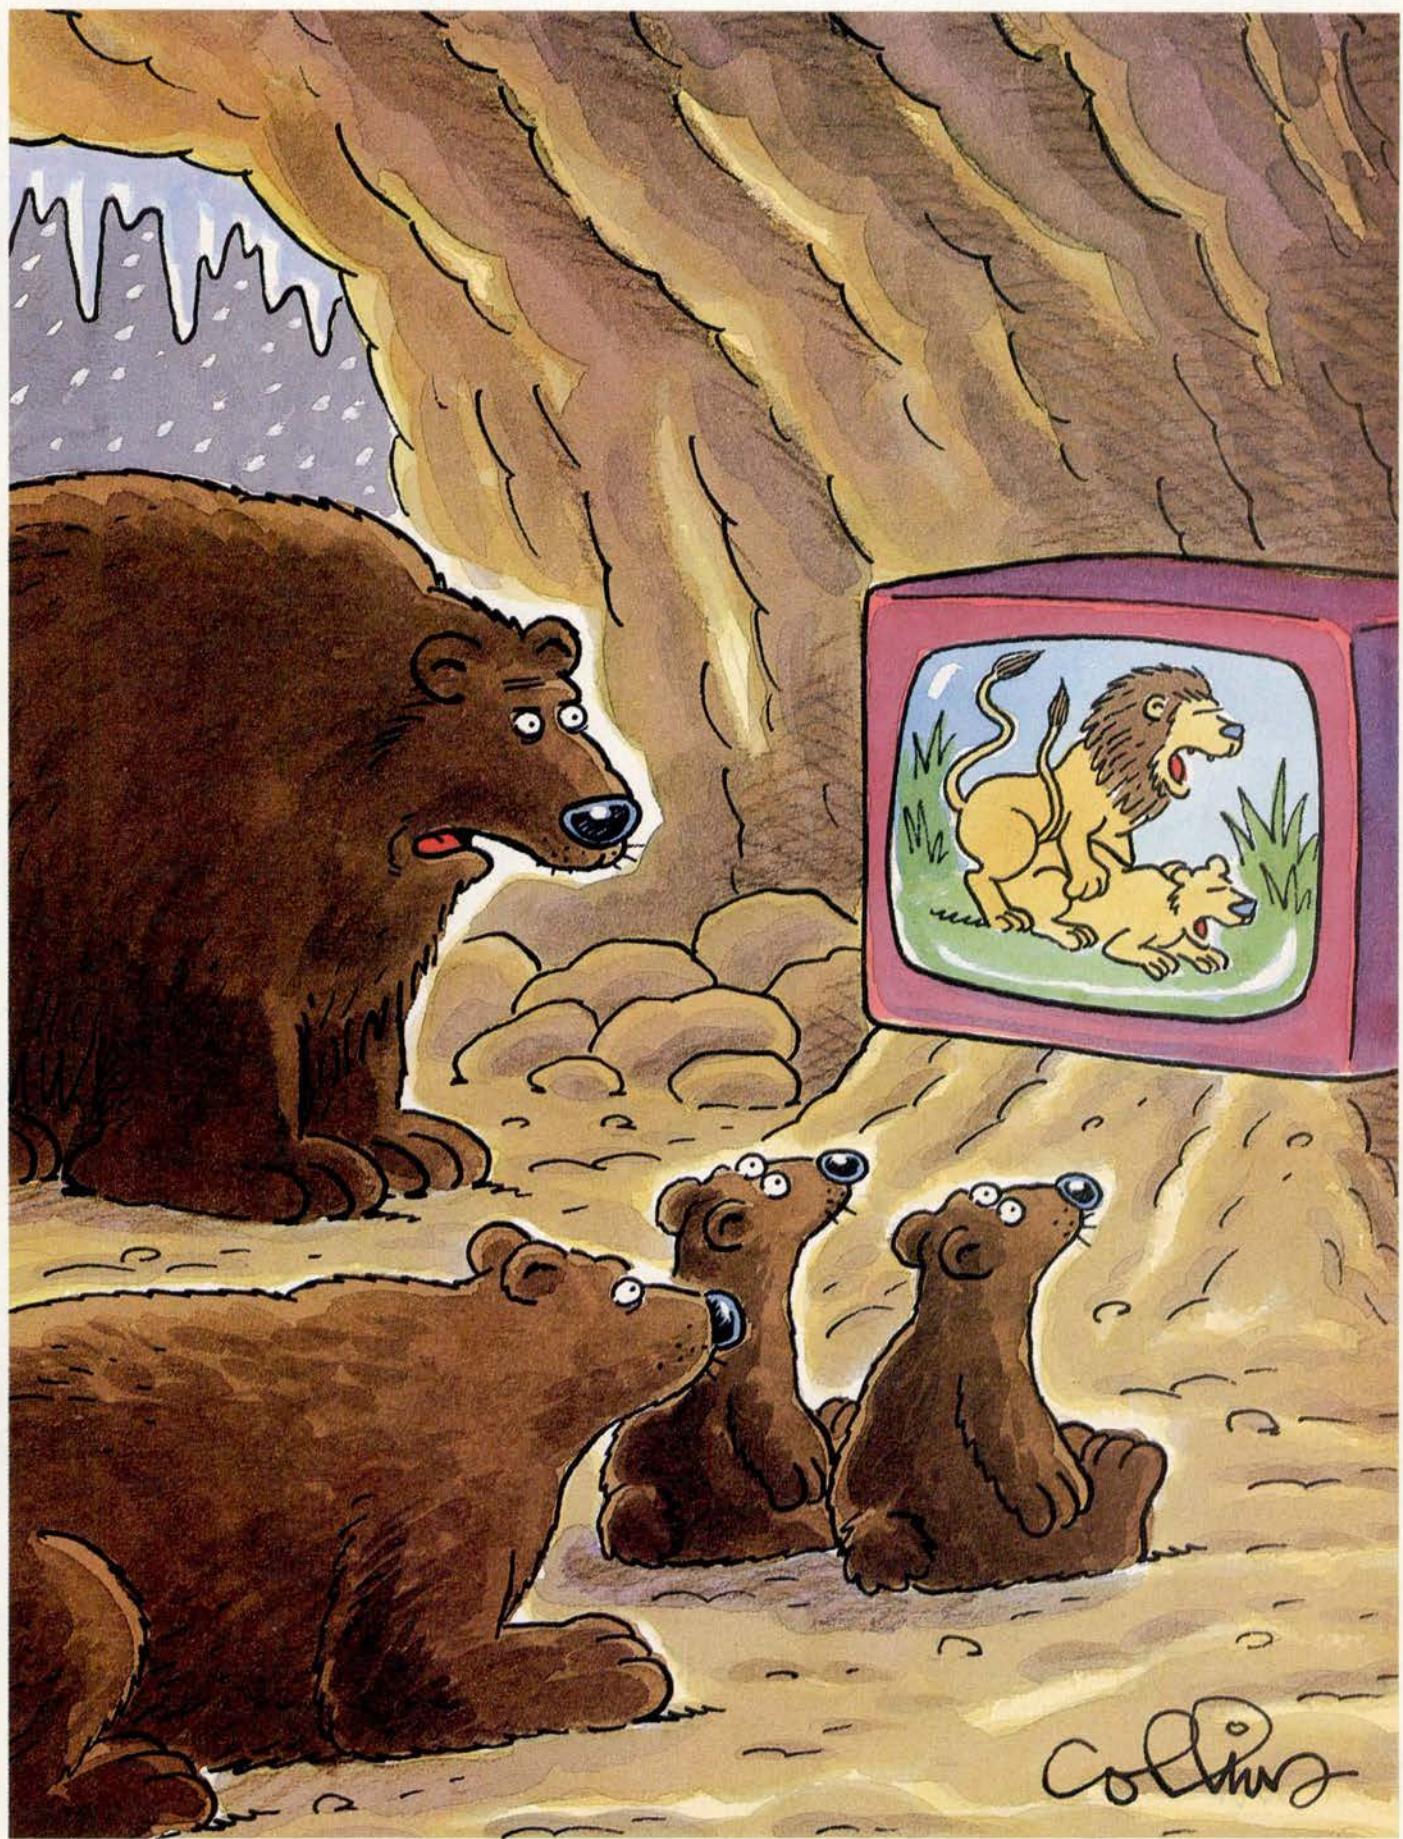

But, while Greenspan is happy with the girl upstairs, he confesses sotto voce, "She's going back. At this point, I haven't met any of the others; so...."

After she leaves, Greenspan is going to Russia to meet with his pen pals who couldn't obtain visas. The girl upstairs doesn't know he's going.

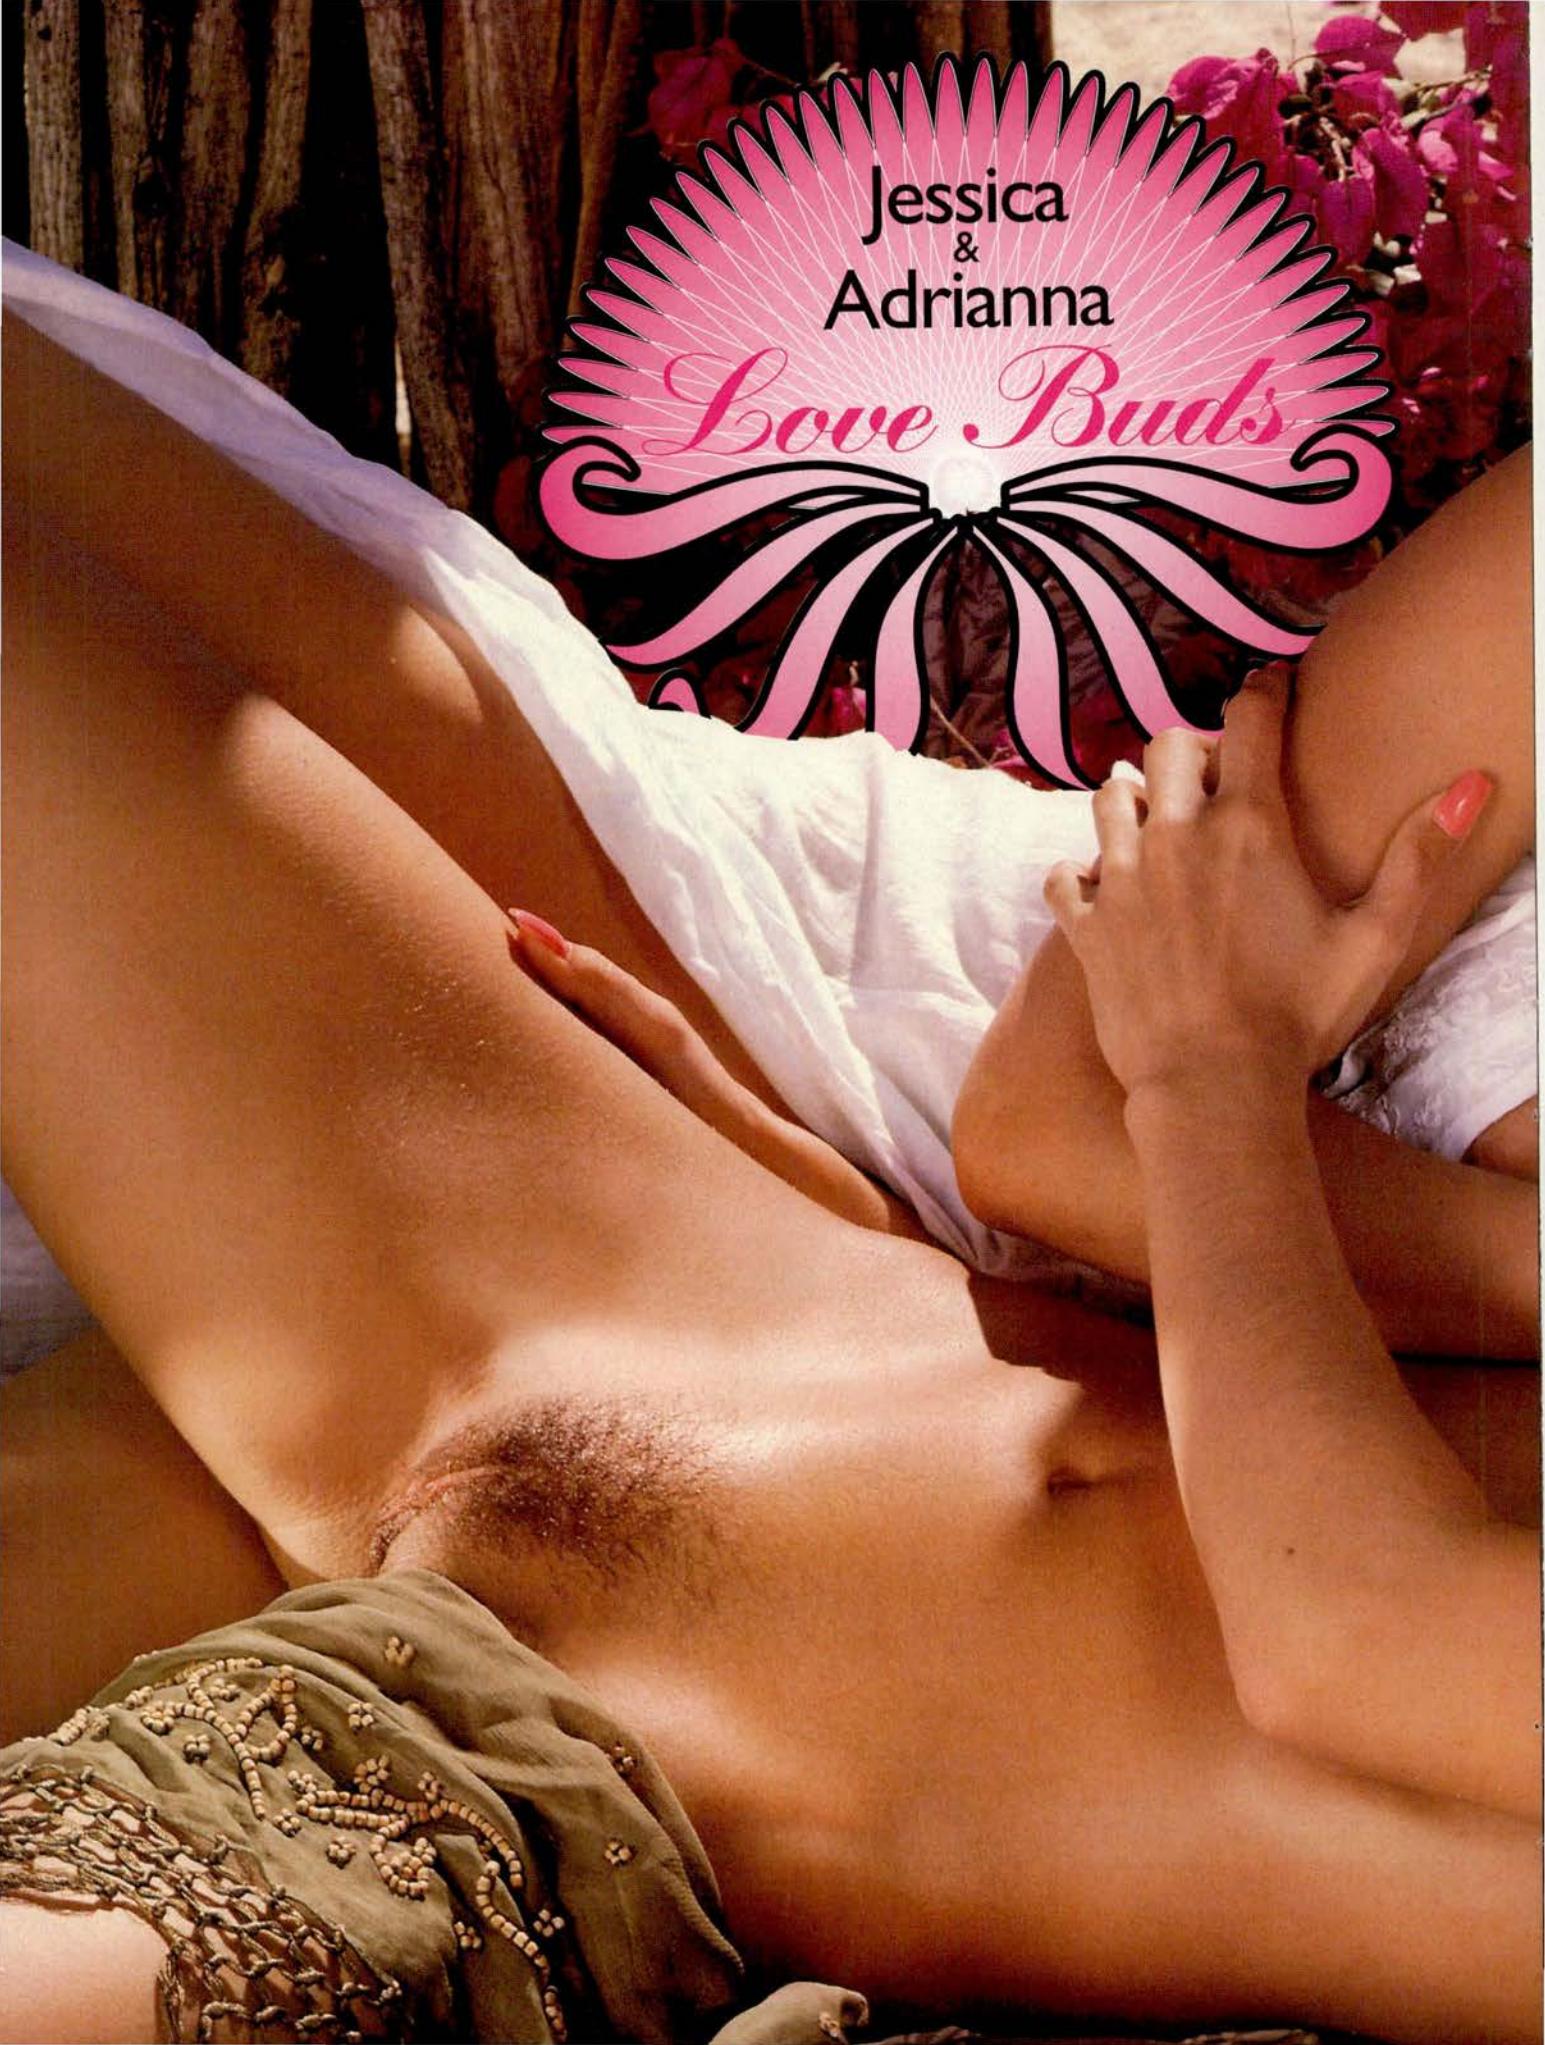

"Why tell her?" he insists. "I like her, but, you know, when you have a choice, you want to know what you're choosing from. In other words, you want to know what's available, and hopefully you can make the best choice. Any human being has to select whether it's the best they can get."

With hundreds of how-to books available, and easy access to the ingredients for bombs and deadly gases, the potential for random mass murder has always existed—but until this year, only in theory.

February 26, 1993—A homemade car bomb composed of common chemical feedstocks explodes beneath New York City's World Trade Center, killing six and injuring more than 1,000 people.

March 20, 1995—Cult members cook up a potent nerve gas in their own labs and release it during the morning rush hour in the Tokyo, Japan, subway system, injuring 5,000 commuters and killing a dozen.

April 20, 1995—A bomb made of fertilizer and fuel oil destroys the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, killing nearly 200 people, including a number of children playing in a day-care center.

* * *

Terrorism experts have warned for years of the substantial casualties that could result from chemical weapons in the wrong hands. With hundreds of how-to books and "recipes" available, and easy access to the necessary ingredients for bombs and deadly gases, the potential for random mass murder has always existed—but until this year, only in theory. Now, says Robert Kupperman of Washington's Center for Strategic and International Studies, "Nightmares are coming true. I think we're in deep trouble."

"For many years, the common wisdom was that terrorist organizations did not want to cause massive numbers of deaths because it would undercut the sympathy for their cause," explains Leonard Spector, a specialist on international terrorism at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. "We've seen that go by the board with the World Trade Center bombing, the chemical weapons business in Japan and the horrible act in Oklahoma City. So no one knows what's going to happen next."

Despite law enforcement's best efforts, warns Les Stanford of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), "nobody in the world can stop" terrorists with the right knowledge and materials from producing destructive devices.

* * *

The horror on the Tokyo subway began during rush hour on a Monday morning. A crowded train moved silently toward its next stop, a major station for government employees. It looked as though a careless commuter had spilled a soft-drink container on the floor. A couple of workers began cleaning up the mess.

Suddenly, several passengers gasped for air and began sneezing. A few rubbed their eyes. A number vomited blood. The train reached the station and stopped.

Several passengers passed out, clutching their throats. Others ran for the exits.

"The smell was something I had never experienced," one passenger, Kazumi Ito, told the New York Times. "When I got outside, I crouched down on the ground. I saw one woman lying on the floor in a spasm and screaming."

The spilled liquid was no accident. Someone had planted containers of a nerve gas called sarin on five trains.

Developed in Germany as a potent pesticide, sarin is extremely toxic. A small drop of the colorless liquid on the skin can kill a person in 15 seconds. Minute exposures wreak havoc with breathing, vision and muscular control.

Sarin is not easily purchased—the substance has no commercial value, and is not produced by any chemical company. On the other hand, with a bit of scientific know-how and commercially available chemicals normally used for fire prevention, medical purposes and making ballpoint-pen ink, the thinking terrorist can whip up a batch of homemade sarin.

The alleged culprits, members of a cult known as Aum Shinrikyo ("Supreme Truth"), had been stockpiling chemicals that could be combined to produce sarin and other fatal agents for at least two years, according to Japanese police. In a series of raids on the sect's several properties, the authorities uncovered hidden laboratories and secret decontamination chambers in addition to toxic chemicals.

Less than a month after the Tokyo incident, on April 19, Japanese commuters faced another attack—this time involving phosgene, a poison gas developed by Nazi Germany. Passengers traveling on an early afternoon train in Yokohama began coughing, feeling dizzy and experiencing sore throats. While the second attack claimed no fatalities, 400 people were hospitalized.

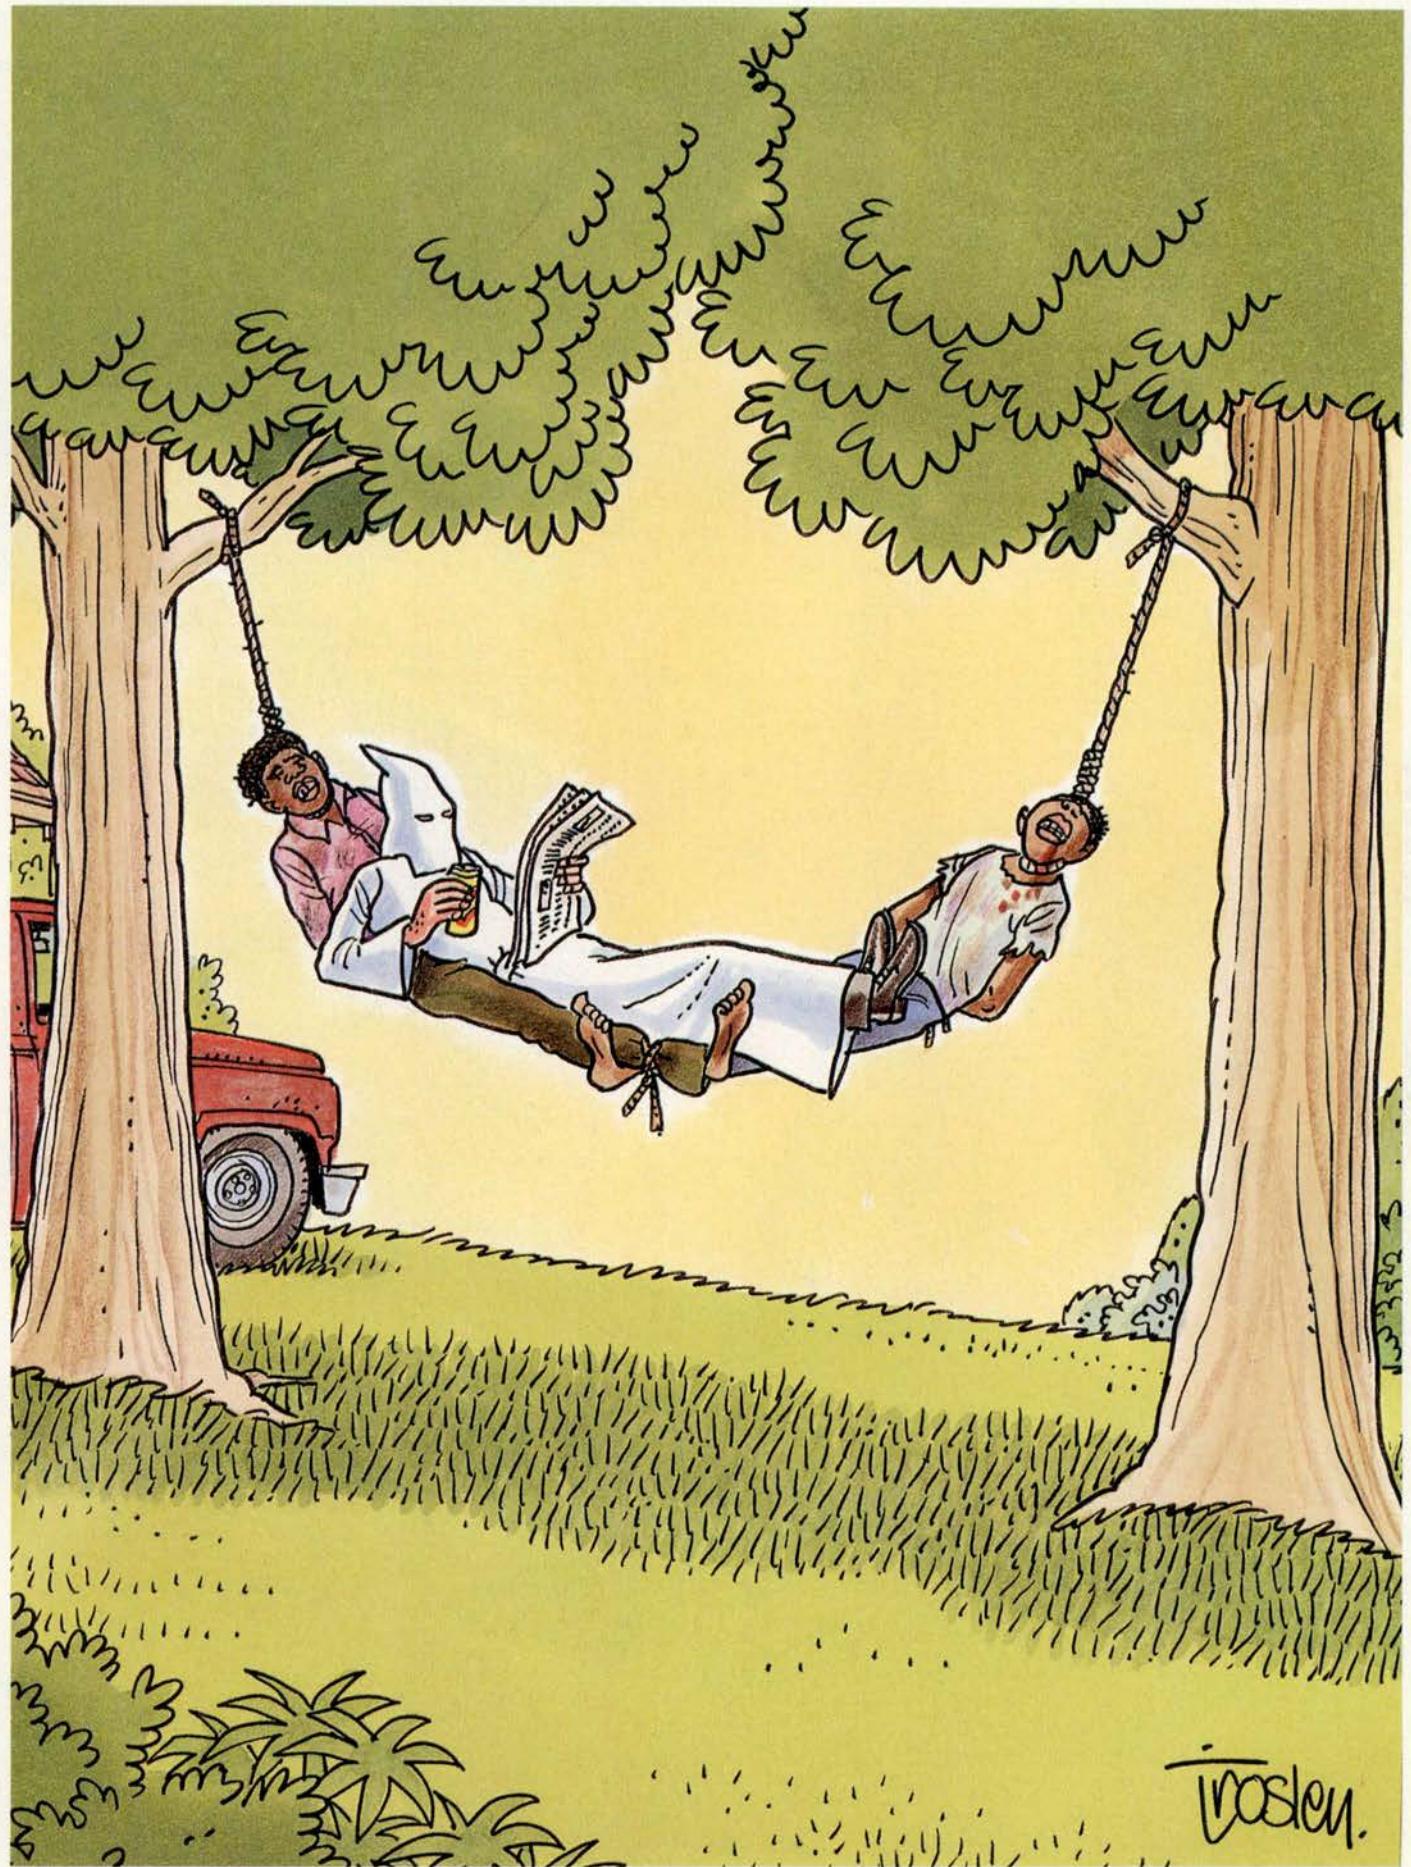

Terrorists struck again in Yokohama on April 21, and in Tokyo on May 6—in the latter instance using a cyanide device that was defused by police before it could emit the poison gas.

For two months, fear and terror shattered the calm and order of Japan. A fearful populace did not know when or where the terrorists would attack. Finally, on May 16, authorities arrested Shoko Asahara, the head of Aum Shinrikyo and an admirer of Adolf Hitler. But even with the arrest of Asahara and confiscation of the cult's lab materials, only time will tell if the

"What do you call that one, Marv?" Tony asked after an up-tempo number.

Marvin replied: "That's titled, 'Drop Your Drawers and Sit on My Face.' Before that I played, 'Suck My Cock, and I'll Shave Your Pussy.'"

"Keep up the good work," Tony sighed, "but do me a favor, Marv: Don't announce your songs by name."

Later that evening, Marvin delighted the clubgoers for hours. Then he took a quick bathroom break, and returned to the floor.

"Excuse me, sir," a female patron called. "Do you know your fly is open, and your dick is hanging out?"

"Know it?" Marvin beamed. "Lady, I wrote it!"

"Okay," the father chuckled. "Now pose the same question to your sister."

Join HUSTLER Online and Fight the Good Fight

 HUSTLER believes that fighting the forces of repression is best done with a hard-on. We've carried that stiff attitude of resistance for more than 20 years. Every issue of HUSTLER is an object lesson to would-be censors that free expression is the keystone of the liberties that make this country great.

Our credo of "fight them by fucking with them" extends into cyberspace. HUSTLER Online is blazing the same trails through the World Wide Web that America's Best has carved through the magazine industry for more than two decades. Larry Flynt has adamantly battled to preserve the freedoms guaranteed all Americans in the Bill of Rights. Larry has put up rather than shut up, taking his cause to the Supreme Court, to the newsstands, to a sidewalk spilled with his own blood in Lawrenceville, Georgia.

The drive to ensure free thought powers HUSTLER Online. Get a modem and check it out. Key in <http://hustler.onprod.com> and log on.

HUSTLER Online buzzes with all the eroticism and irreverence of HUSTLER's printed edition, plus more. Our electronic version is stacked with extra photos of our luscious Honeys, hand-picked outtakes, many of which were judged too hot for newsstand consumption. We've also packed our Internet reviews of X-rated sex flicks with more and harder shots than between our glossy paper covers. And, our Net-side subscribers will be invited to participate in special promotional interactions.

We're providing anyone who visits the HUSTLER Online site with the e-mail addresses of individual members of the United States Congress and a protest letter instructing the politicians how to vote on such mind-control measures as Senator Exxon's Communications Decency Act of 1995. This online equivalent to pre-addressed, stamped envelopes empowers our readers to communicate directly with their elected servants.

HUSTLER Online is rapidly evolving, much like the Internet itself. Watch for the addition of sound and moving graphics. The day will come when our Honeys speak directly to you by name. Until then, post some e-mail to our editors, our publisher, our models. Give us your most prized comments and fantasies.

"Their concerns verge on the paranoid," diagnoses Maxwell Charleston of Wired and Willful, a loose-knit allegiance of computer-literate malcontents. "Censorship is never rational."

Luke Matthews is a late arrival to cyberspace. Matthews, 43, makes his living outdoors, working with his hands. His wife of 12 years, Mary, and his two kids—one 11, the other eight—keep Luke in a whirl of family obligations that leave him little inclination to devote his life to a web of computer networks.

One evening, Luke arrives early to pick up Mary at a local university, where she is enrolled in night classes. Mary tells Luke to amuse himself with an open computer. She clicks Luke online, and he discovers the Internet.

Luke scans an index of chat rooms and Usenet newsgroups. He stops at miso.tv.ca (men in search of transvestites in California). A real-time, typed-in discussion of man-size spike-heel shoes is not in Luke's best interest; so he clicks into a few more talk spots. Much of the flirty communication centers around guys trying to get dates with broads.

Luke's roving settles on the site alt.binaries.pictures.erotica.waifs. He opens a photo file. Starting at the top of Luke's screen, the image of a lank-haired, baby-face nymphet forms on his monitor and fills toward the bottom. Luke watches with open-jawed anticipation as a man's head comes into the picture, level with the young lady's breasts, nuzzling her fresh nerps. The picture finishes up; the guy's cock is wedged into her snatch.

"Hey," says Mary, hovering over Luke's shoulder. "Has HUSTLER'S BARELY LEGAL finally gone on-line?"

The computer phenomenon suddenly makes sense to Luke. He and Mary purchase a modem for their home PC and subscribe to America Online (AOL). Mary accesses reference materials for her term papers through the Net, and Luke cruises the Web to while away the evenings while Mary is at school.

Luke is astonished but thrilled at the variety of perversities available on the Net. Finally, here's a medium where adults can exchange information and what Luke likes to think of as "art" without the intrusion of uptight, censorship-loving middlemen. After all, he's in the privacy of his own home, and he doesn't need any intermediary to protect his computer-proficient children from nasty on-screen words and images—that's what he's there for.

One evening in a chocolate erotica BBS (bulletin board), Luke reads a post from Little Rock, Arkansas, requesting pictures of black guys with huge dicks manhandling small, delicate white women. Luke remembers a layout in the 21st-anniversary issue of HUSTLER. Being friendly, he digs up the photos, scans them onto his system and puts them up for grabs. He receives an e-mail note of thanks.

Three days later, while he's cooking dinner, Luke's front and back doors crash in simultaneously. Jackbooted federal agents, rifles drawn, stream in and seize all computer hardware and files from the Matthews residence. Luke is charged with interstate dissemination of obscenity. He faces a four-year prison term and fines that exceed the amount of money he expects to make in the next ten years.

* * *

The preceding dramatization is no more exaggerated than the arguments of the cyber censors. Government officials and so-called decency organizations are crying to clean up the worldwide computer web. The shrillest bleating comes from Senator James Exon (D-Nebraska). On February 2, 1995, Senator Exon introduced the Communications Decency Act to "protect the public from the misuse of the telecommunications network." Exon's proposed bill would prohibit the transmission of "obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy or indecent" material, with penalties of up to two years in prison and fines reaching $100,000. The White House also has announced that the Clinton Administration is working to add "prosecutorial tools" to the effort to wipe porn off the Internet.

"Prosecutorial tools" are already sufficient to place Robert Thomas, proprietor of the Amateur Action Bulletin Board, behind bars for three years due to his on-line erotica.

Robert Copella, a former vice-president of the Rand-McNally Corporation who later operated the Windy City Freedom Fortress BBS, is parked in a New Jersey jail, charged with federal child-pornography offenses. Current prosecutorial tools were enough to extradite Copella from Mexico.

In September 1995, federal agents arrested a dozen people nationwide who had allegedly used AOL to exchange digitized photos of children ages 13 and younger engaged in sex acts. Prosecutorial tools allowed for the arrests even though the alleged trafficking had occurred via e-mail, which is protected as confidential by the federal Electronic Communications Privacy Act (ECPA).

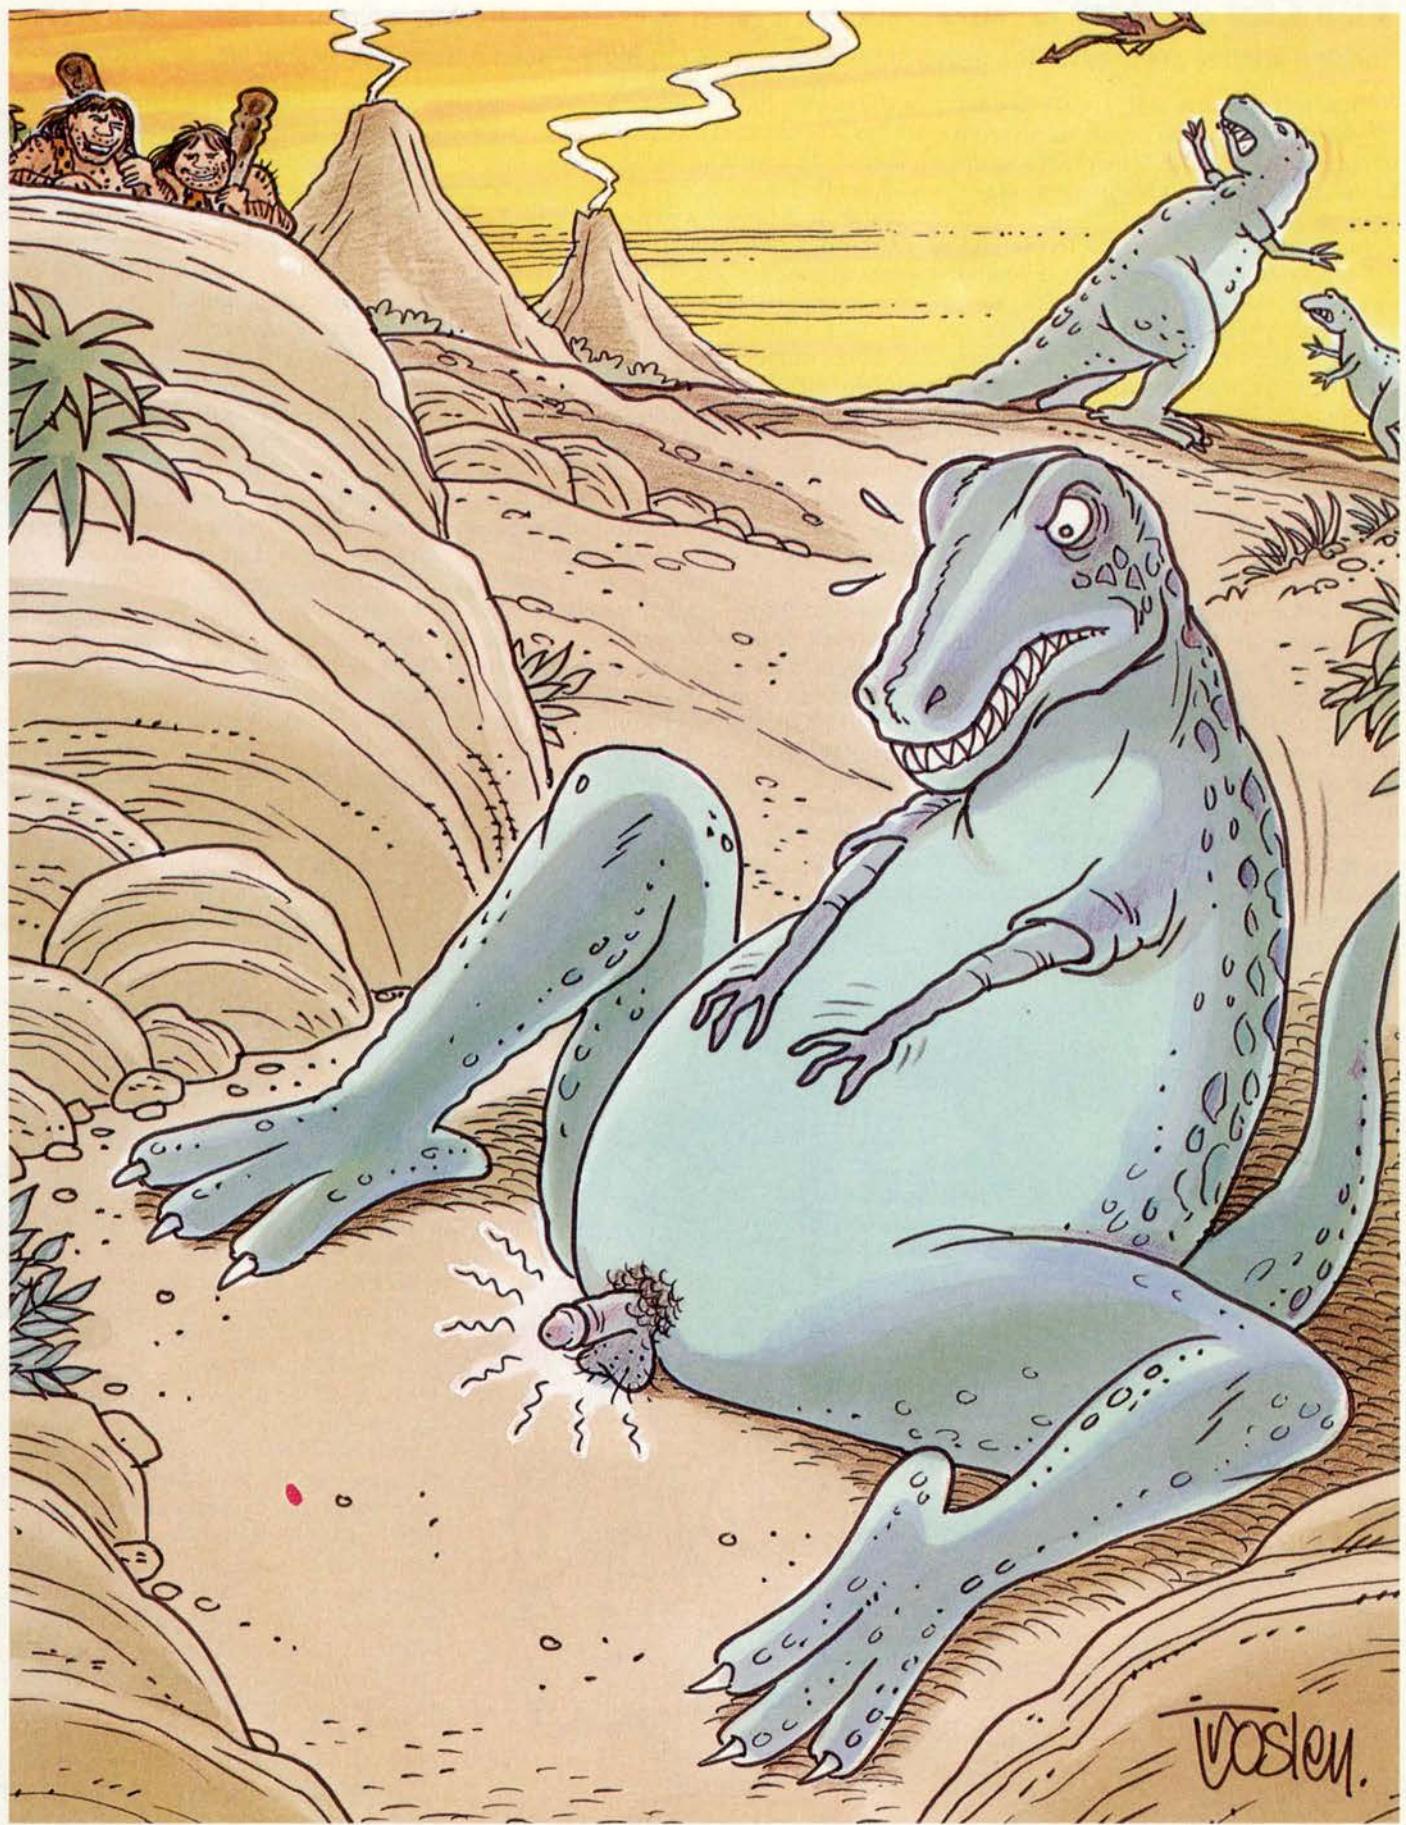

What, then, are the self-appointed guardians of the Net harping about?

"Their concerns verge on the paranoid," diagnoses Maxwell Charleston of Wired and Willful, a loose-knit alliance of computer-literate malcontents. "Censorship is never rational."

That the Internet has been spanned with lewd and lascivious linkups is no surprise.

"Can't say for sure if your future will be necessarily bright—but it sure has a lot of pussy in it!"

"So that why Tyrannosaurus so mean.... Him can't jerk off. "

WOOSH.

 Many of history's greatest technological breakthroughs have led to inventive sex.

The first printing press gave Renaissance man the Gutenberg Bible—soon followed by bawdy fuck manuals.

"Radical politics and sexual fantasy are the first uses made of any new means of communication," notes Gerard van der Leun in a special cyberspace issue of Time magazine.

Many of history's greatest technological breakthroughs have led to inventive sex. The first printing press gave Renaissance man the Gutenberg Bible—soon followed by bawdy fuck manuals. Photography was brand-new when an adventurous shutterbug pointed his camera at a naked lady sucking a cock. Erotic movies debuted in 1915, dating practically as far back as the medium itself. The sales of VCRs skyrocketed with the introduction of mass-access porn tapes, and the aim-and-shoot home-video camera has probably documented more pussies than it has bar mitzvahs.

"Human beings are, and always have been, fascinated by sex," concludes New York Law School professor Carlin Meyer in the Georgetown Law Journal.

Meyer's observation came in response to a "study" of sexual content on the Internet by Marty Rimm, a 30-year-old undergraduate at Carnegie Mellon University. Rimm's breathy survey of images downloaded on the Internet, titled Marketing Pornography on the Information Superhighway, paints a lurid picture of an electronic landscape smeared with filth for sale: "A crystal-clear image of a woman defecating into a man's mouth." "Brunette is on her knees! Sexy redhead fists her asshole!" "Mother watches daughter fuck herself with a screwdriver."

Among other questionable conclusions, Rimm asserts: "The disproportion of imagery depicting women engaged in acts that would be considered degrading in most communities can be definitively established."

"Disproportionate in relation to what proportions?" asks Wired and Willful's Charleston. "Degrading as defined or experienced by whom? Marty Rimm's idea of establishing a matter definitively is blurred by his wishful allegations."

Rimm was nonetheless assumed to have established the matter definitively by such concerned citizens as anti-smut crusader Catharine MacKinnon. MacKinnon, a professor of law at the Michigan Law School, reacted predictably to Rimm's smirking, alarmist tone.

"Pornography in cyberspace," rants MacKinnon in a condemnatory screed accompanying the study, "is pornography in society—just broader, deeper, worse, and more of it."

The editors of Time magazine swallowed Rimm's bait, emblazoning the cover of their July 3, 1995, issue with a photo of a traumatized child, eyes agog in front of a computer screen. "CYBER-PORN EXCLUSIVE," screamed the headline banner. "A new study shows how pervasive and wild it really is. Can we protect our kids—and free speech?"

Time's article accepted Rimm's contention that cybersmut proves men prefer degrading pornography, and passed it along as gospel. And why not? Rimm himself had vouched for his own credibility. He claimed that his study was the first accurate account of smut-consumer tastes. Recording exactly what users downloaded, Rimm was not relying upon "the honesty of replies people give when surveyed about their sexual tastes."

Following publication of Time's article, the Internet flared with posts assailing the study's accuracy and reliability. Rimm's study had claimed that "83.5% of all images posted on the Usenet are pornographic." Cooler mathematicians compute that smut images represent only 3% of all messages on the Usenet, and less than half of 1% on the Internet as a whole. Furthermore, Rimm's figures were based upon private bulletin boards that specialize in XXX and are legitimately accessible only to paying adult subscribers—posing little threat to children who might accidentally happen upon them.

A background check of Marty Rimm revealed that in 1990 he had penned a sleazy novel about gambling on the New Jersey shore. The Internet posted cheesy snippets. ("I'm gonna go pump Nadah with my R.R. tonight." "Your R.R.? What's that, Rich? 'Come on, get with it, Donny! That's my rectum rocket!'") Credibility limping, Rimm shot himself in the other foot by admitting that he had used the data from his Carnegie Mellon study toward an illustrated paperback titled The Pornographer's Handbook: How to Exploit Women, Dupe Men and Make Lots of Money. The book was intended to show operators of adult bulletin boards how to increase their profits. It seems that Rimm gained access to his porn purveyors by promising to improve their marketing techniques, then concocted a study denouncing porn purveyors. This bait-and-switch routine was too much even for the Senate Judiciary Committee, which dropped Rimm as an expert witness from hearings on children and cybersex.

"Cyberstalking and harassment may well occur [on the Net]," concedes

Professor Meyer, "just as they can on streets. But surely they are safer on-screen than on streets."

"Phone sex marketing is ubiquitous," states Jake Stern, a sex-talk operator from Orange, California. "Of course we're taking advantage of the Internet. Computer freaks want to get off just like anyone else. We take precautions that no kids get through. We don't want that trouble."

Free masturbatory fodder is also plentiful.

Ridgewood, New Jersey, accountant Greg D., an experienced and parsimonious browser, has downloaded a voluminous collection of images from the Internet, without fee—all while ostensibly toiling away at computer spreadsheets behind the closed door of his office.

"There's an entire Web site devoted to Anna Nicole Smith," explains Greg. "My boss has an excellent printer; so the picture quality is almost as good as what's in a magazine. There's a community effort on the Net, with everyone pitching in to get new pictures of Anna Nicole Smith; so I'm always being shown something I might never have seen without the Internet."

Image-gathering teamwork is the force behind such lascivious websites as alt.sex.colostomy, alt.sex.bestiality, alt.sex.bestiality.barney and hundreds of other bizarro topics.

"[On the Internet,] you can, to a certain degree, experience and understand lifestyles that you would never dream of trying in real life," points out Gerard van der Leun. "And, of course, the safety of virtual sex is unparalleled."

"The Internet allows participants to compare real experiences and fantasy lives in anonymity and safety," echoes Professor Meyer. "Porn is the only place people get a chance to look at sex. Indeed, sexual dysfunction among Americans generally is fostered by lack of open, honest discussion of sexuality."

Catharine MacKinnon, however, has an opposite take: "The question [posed] by pornography in cyberspace is the same as pornography poses everywhere else: whether anything will be done about it."

To support their argument, proponents of cyber censorship often cite horror stories of women being harassed and stalked. In an infamous case last year, a University of Michigan sophomore named Jake Baker posted a rape-and-torture fantasy on the alt.sex.stories section of the Internet. Although Baker considerably prefaced his tale with a warning that it contained "sick stuff," he made the mistake of naming the female victim after a classmate. A university alumnus who read the story complained to school officials, and Baker was arrested by the FBI and charged with using interstate communications to threaten to kidnap or injure another person.

Baker's indictment was eventually dismissed by the U.S. District Court on the grounds that his words were a fantasy, not a threat, but the damage was done as far as MacKinnon was concerned.

"Even though names are only words," she writes in the Georgetown Law Review, "making pornography of a name was seen as part of doing real harm to a real person.... The point is: It took putting pornography in cyberspace to produce this."

Counters Professor Meyer: "Rather than focus on the few who harass, libel or stalk online, we should remember that any technology can be ill-employed, but that this one, in particular, offers what is probably the safest sex available."

Censorship advocates also point to a few highly publicized instances in which child molesters troll in kid-themed chat rooms for victims, then arranged to meet and attack the children in person. But children are far more susceptible to pedophiles in a local park than on a computer network.

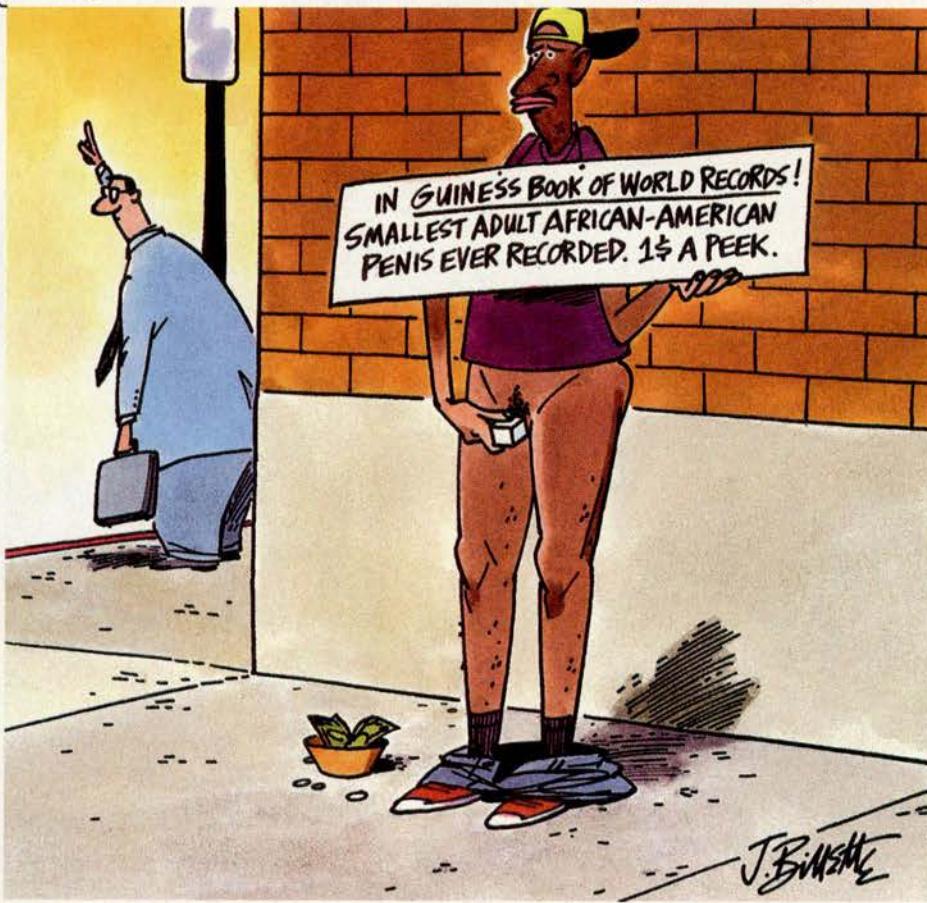

"Cyberstalking and harassment may well occur [on the Net]," concedes Professor Meyer, "just as they can on streets. But surely they are safer on-screen than on streets."

Another concern is that children will be bombarded by X-rated images, but the same could happen any time a kid is out of his parent's sight, if some freak wants to bombard the kid with porn. In 1957, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter wrote that the First Amendment does not allow a state "to reduce the adult population...to reading only what is fit for children." As one Netter points out, referring to Senator Exon's Decency Act, "It's as if the manager of a Barnes and Noble bookstore could be sent to jail simply because children were able to wander the store's aisles and search for the racy passages in a Judith Krantz or Harold Robbins novel."

Separate from the issue of whether anything should be done to curtail cyberporn is the question of whether, logically, anything can be done. Some conservatives feel that systems operators (SYSOPs) such as AOL, Prodigy and CompuServe should be held liable for keeping their networks clean. But holding the online services liable, says an AOL spokesperson, "would be like saying the U.S. Post Office is liable for child pornography sent through the mail."

AOL already lets parents block access to chat rooms, plans to extend that ability to e-mail, bulletin boards and data government has stopped the attacks, given the copycat nature of terrorists.

Seitz warns, "and the nuclear nonproliferation treaty is powerless even to address it."

"Tokyo broke the ice," asserts Dr. Anthony Fainberg of the U.S. Congress Office of Technology Assessment (OTA). "Terrorists will see it can be done and want to do it themselves."

* * *

The Oklahoma City bombers killed their victims with an explosive device assembled at least as easily as sarin. They most likely used the readily available ingredients ammonium nitrate and diesel fuel oil to concoct a homemade version of ANFO, a heavily regulated commercial explosive.

"There are many materials that are used every day for legitimate purposes that can be combined to create improvised explosive mixtures," explains Ralph Ostrowski, chief of the ATF's arson and explosives division. "The ammonium nitrate found in commercial fertilizers can be purchased at any garden-supply or hardware store."

Farmers and mine operators use ammonium nitrate and ANFO regularly—the former as fertilizer and the latter to blow holes in mines. Construction crews also use explosive ANFO.

Russell Seitz of Harvard University's John M. Olin Institute for Strategic Studies believes that even these legitimate uses are unsafe.

"The nation's coasts and rivers play host on a daily basis to thousand-ton [shipments of] fertilizer," says Seitz. "There is little to deter the hijacking of their tugs or the transfer of their cargoes, let alone defend the cities that they transit."

Demand for ammonium nitrate is so high, notes Seitz, the United States produces nearly 8 million tons of the substance every year.

"Explosive power enough to refight World War II is on the loose," he warns, "and the nuclear nonproliferation treaty is powerless even to address it."

U.S. Representative Billy Tauzin (D-Louisiana) believes that the government should consider preventive measures to protect its citizens. Tauzin, who chairs the House Subcommittee on Commerce, Trade and Hazardous Materials, held a hearing in May 1995 to explore how industry could reduce the explosive characteristics of ammonium-nitrate fertilizer.

One of the witnesses at the hearing was Samuel Porter, a consultant to the chemical industry. In 1968, Porter invented and patented a process of adding phosphate to ammonium nitrate to reduce the risks posed by the explosive.

"It seemed to me that it would be nice to have an explosive grade monitored by the authorities, and a fertilizer grade destined for farming," Porter said at the hearing.

If the ammonium-nitrate makers had adopted Porter's process years ago, Tauzin asserted, "they could have prevented the tragedy in Oklahoma City."

Manufacturers at the hearing disagreed.

"We conducted demonstrations to show what scientists and the industry have known for years," testified Joe Brawner of ICI Explosives USA. "There are no known additives that will render ammonium nitrate inert." On the contrary, ICI reported, adding phosphate, as Porter suggested, caused the fertilizer to ignite and blow up.

Even if Porter's invention worked, maintained the OTA's Anthony Fainberg, who also testified at the hearing, terrorists could circumvent the tactic.

"First, they could use old stocks of undesensitized explosives," he noted. "Second, they might have access to manufacturers, here or abroad, who do not comply with the requirement. Finally, they could manufacture their own explosives from easily obtainable raw materials that would be impractical to adulterate."

Another preventive option is to force manufacturers to use taggants; for example, require that they plant indestructible microscopic chips in potentially dangerous chemicals. In the event of an explosion, authorities could recover the chip and possibly determine the manufacturer, seller and even buyer.

"Explosive power enough to refight World War II is on the loose,"

Explosives manufacturers, while agreeing that taggants merit study, pointed out several potential problems at a second hearing held in June 1995.

"Commercially manufactured explosives, such as dynamites, water gels, slurries, ANFO and blasting agents, are used in 1% to 3% of bombing incidents that occur each year in the United States," said Christopher Ronay, president of the Institute of Makers of Explosives, and formerly chief of the FBI's explosives unit. "The remaining 97% to 99% consists of homemade mixtures and commercial powders. In the overwhelming number of incidents, therefore, taggants would not have been involved."

The OTA's Fainberg concurred: "The World Trade Center [terrorists] used urea and nitric acid, two extremely common chemical feedstocks that would be difficult to tag. Ammonium nitrate can be made from ammonia and nitric acid, and tagging ammonia would present like difficulties."

Obtaining the chemicals necessary to build bombs and mount poison attacks is just the

He doesn't have any ironclad criteria for selecting a mate.

"The reality will be that I will say to myself, I want this, I want her, or whatever. Which is like if you're shopping for a car, something will just hit you, and you say, I want that. There's a certain kind of admiration for the guy who looks over a group and then can make his choice. It's something like a dream; in a way, it's a dream of mine.

"Hey!" Greenspan ejaculates. "Do you want to meet her?"

He bounds up the carpeted stairs, making loud pidgin English sounds: "SAY HELLO! SAY HELLO! FRIEND DOWNSTAIRS HELLO!" A bashful young thing peeks out behind a pillar. "SAY HELLO FRIEND!"

"Ha-lo," the girl squeaks, embarrassed.

"HELLO FRIEND! HE FRIEND, SEE! SAY HELLO FRIEND!" Greenspan turns toward me, shrugs. "She don't know too good English."

"You should have seen this Russian gal's eyes when I took her into the Price Club," recalls Ed Burden, the airline pilot. "Wide as saucers."

Jerry Perkins recounts an oft-told anecdote about how newly arrived Russian women, when visiting American stores, will throw everything they can grab into the shopping cart without regard for necessity, size or price.

"It's not that they're greedy," he points out. "By reflex, the gals hoard because they think the stuff won't be there even a few minutes later."

Dozens of marriages between East and West are currently under way, but there's no telling how well the intercultural promiscuity will pan out. Perkins believes that Russian women will be less prone to divorce than their American counterparts.

"They've been through a heck of a lot," he says. "They'll be grateful for what they have over here."

"The gorgeous women over here wouldn't give me a shot," admits David Greenspan. "Not so in Russia. I'm anxious to get over there and get it signed, sealed, delivered before it becomes too well known."

"Maybe I shouldn't be talking to you," he worries. "When there's a buyer's market, you're not too anxious to get a lot of competition for the goods."

Chico, California, is home to Catwoman, a 21-year-old exotic dancer who doesn't pussyfoot around when it comes to her sexual proclivities. Deep throating and having her fur petted make her purr. She'd like to play the role of bat cave to Val Kilmer and Chris O'Donnell while her husband films them.

Will there be a TV version?

That would put Ruby in paradise.

Chemicals

"We have the right to publish books about explosives. People read the Bible and find something in there that tells them to blow away abortion providers. Should they stop selling Bibles?"

first step for would-be terrorists. Step two is gaining the technical knowledge needed to build and use the weapon of choice—and this, too, is distressingly simple.

"How to make chemical explosives is well known," maintains the ATF's Les Stanford. "Any high-school kid with a knowledge of chemicals can make an explosive. If you want the information, it is out there."

Hundreds of books are available that contain instructions on building bombs and other weapons of destruction. Two of the most popular titles are The Anarchist's Cookbook and Poor Man's James Bond, which cover such topics as making pipe bombs, gas-tank bombs, grenades and impact-ignition fire bombs.

Also available to would-be terrorists is the Improvised Munitions Handbook, which comes in three volumes and was originally developed for the Central Intelligence Agency and U.S. Special Forces troops.

Many of these titles are available from Loompanics Unlimited of Port Townsend, Washington. The OTA's Anthony Fainberg also cites Delta Press of El Dorado, Arizona, as a source of "a large catalog of weapons of destruction." Available through Delta is a book called Assorted Nasties, which includes information on making "home brewed" nerve gas. By simply calling Delta's toll-free number, Fainberg was able to get a copy of Delta's catalog sent to his government office with no questions asked.

Fainberg attributes sales of these books to "an incredible increase in the membership of militias over the past two years."

"I personally kind of doubt that militia members are buying from us," maintains Dennis Eichhorn, editorial director of Loompanics. "It's hard to say who is buying them. All we know is the name because we take orders over the phone or through the mail."

Eichhorn expresses no moral qualms about selling books with instructions for making dangerous and destructive devices.

"I'm not worried about people using these books to build bombs," he declares. "There are plenty of other sources for this kind of material. You can open up the Encyclopedia Britannica and find the recipe for explosives, or get a government manual. I know of 300 books in print on how to make explosives. The best recipes are in government publications."

Would-be bomb makers can indeed consult The New Encyclopedia Britannica (15th edition, published in 1994) and find seven pages on the history and composition of explosives. One section details the formula for how ANFO is "almost universally prepared." The section on plastic explosives even furnishes the temperature range necessary to maintain effectiveness.

The information superhighway also serves as a source for this know-how. Directions for producing deadly weapons have been posted on bulletin boards on the Internet. Fainberg noted one that uses the name Patriot.

Nothing can be done to restrict access to this information. "Not as long as we have a First Amendment," points out the ATF's Les Stanford.

Along with easy access to information through the local library and the Internet, Stanford notes that "hundreds of people have gone through the armed forces" and "learned how to make explosive devices."

Echoes Eichhorn, "The U.S. Army takes a bunch of non-high-school graduates, puts them in a class, teaches them how to make bombs and sets them loose. This is done with no regard for what kind of people they are or their problems."

As for censorship, he says, "We have the right to publish books about explosives. People read the Bible and find something in there that tells them to blow away abortion providers. Should they stop selling Bibles?"

Domestic fringe groups with murder on their minds and access to how-to books may pose a threat, but they are not the only ones employing chemical weapons.

Until 1994, the Pentagon maintained that Iraq had not used chemical weapons during the Persian Gulf War. However, a report by Czech chemical-warfare experts found that allied troops in northern Saudi Arabia had twice detected sarin and a mustard agent. Since the end of the war, thousands of American veterans of the conflict have reported a wide variety of ailments of unknown origin, from cancers to constant fatigue.

And in August 1995, to protect itself from possible reputation-bruising revelations following the defection of Lieutenant General Hussein Kamel Majid to Jordan, Iraq submitted data to the United Nations (UN) revealing programs of mass destruction—including chemical weapons—that were much larger and more advanced than previously suspected. The nation claimed that the information hadn't been reported to the UN earlier because it had been under the control of Majid.

Currently languishing in the U.S. Congress is the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC), which would ban production and sale of chemical weapons and mandate elimination of existing stockpiles. Additionally, the treaty establishes an agency to record, monitor and verify movement of sensitive chemicals between and within countries. Military facilities and chemical plants would be subject to inspection if violations are suspected.

Chemicals

While nearly 160 countries have signed the treaty, less than 30 have ratified it. Critics question how much difference the treaty would make.

Douglas Feith, a former Reagan Administration official who worked on chemical-weapons arms control, argues that "the convention's elaborate and intrusive reporting and verification provisions will impose major burdens on law-abiding nations like the United States. They will not, however, constrain any party whose legal scruples are less powerful than its desire for chemical weapons."

Despite Feith's skepticism, the chemical industry supports the convention.

"The treaty is the best means available to prevent legitimate chemicals from falling into the wrong hands," says Fred Webber, president of the Chemical Manufacturers Association (CMA). "Honest businesses have nothing to fear.

Anyone with other motives will run the risk of getting caught in the act."

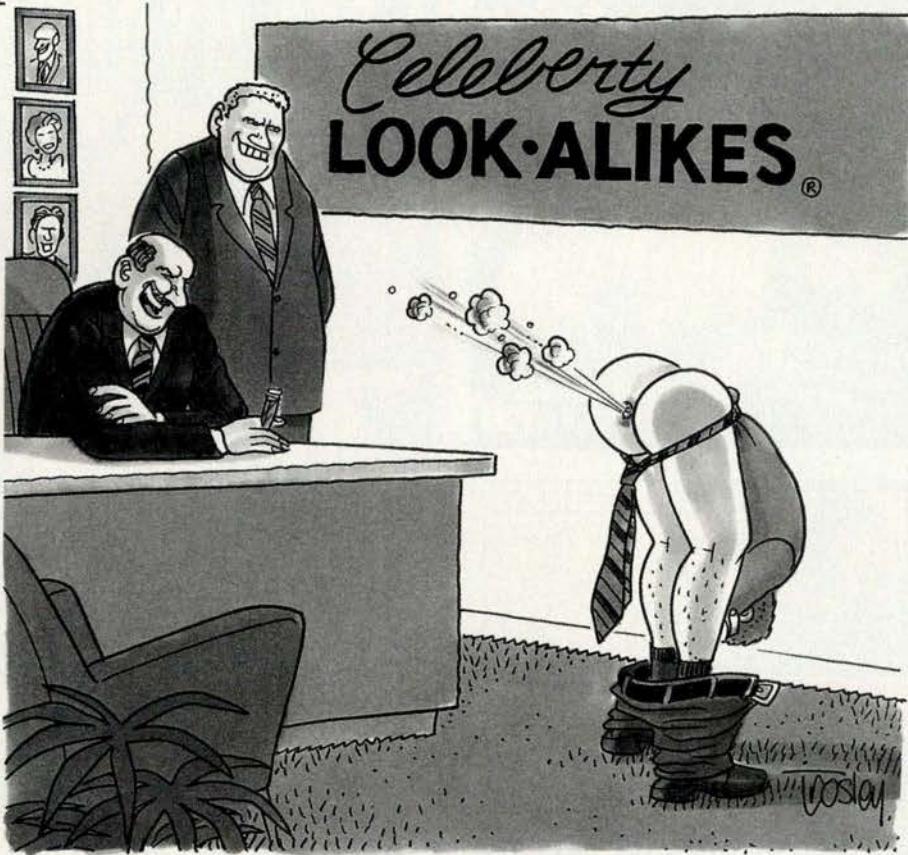

Clinton Administration attempts to gain Senate approval for the convention failed last year, and with isolationist Senator Jesse Helms (R-North Carolina) now chairing the Foreign Relations Committee, the issue is not even expected to come up for debate.

As a Republican source says, "What happened in Tokyo just underscores the sheer uselessness of this agreement and how unverifiable it is."

* * *

Is the horror experienced in Japan and Oklahoma City isolated and random, or a preview of the future? Even if the chemicals in question were strictly regulated, would that eliminate the potential for mass terrorism at the hands of small, irresponsible fringe groups?

In May 1995, Columbus, Ohio, police arrested a septic-tank inspector named Larry Wayne Harris. By falsely claiming that he owned a laboratory, Harris had allegedly bought three freeze-dried cultures of the bacteria that causes bubonic plague. He maintained that he was working on a book about bubonic plague antidotes. A search of Harris's home uncovered a membership certificate for the Aryan Nations. ☀

"Fantastic. We'll make a fortune with him as a Rush Limbaugh look-alike."

Internet

libraries and has 30 full-time employees who monitor live chat. For now, the ECPA prevents the services from reading private messages—such as the ones used by the FBI to crack down on the alleged child-porn collectors last September.

David Post, a visiting professor at Georgetown University's law school, sympathizes with the services. "They're really caught in a tough bind. There's a notion that if you exercise editorial control at all, then you are responsible for what slips through."

The services might more fairly be treated like telephone companies, which bear no responsibility for phone conversations. With millions of messages sent each day, the services can't possibly monitor everything.

Senator Exon is not convinced. "If I felt [the Decency Act] might complicate my ability to make money on the superhighway, that's the argument I would make."

* * *

The test for obscenity is based upon a violation of community standards. If Senator Exon's bill or some similar law is passed, can SYSOPs be expected to determine community standards throughout the country? What legally constitutes a community—A state? A county? A city? A municipality? A three-block radius? What if cyberspace is a community in and of itself, worldwide in scope, a free aggregate of human minds, subject to its own standards?

The purveyors of Amateur Action Billboard of Milpitas, California, were tried and sentenced in Tennessee after their images were downloaded by a government employee there. The materials may have been judged not obscene by the community standards of Milpitas, California.

"[Community standards] means nothing can be put on the Internet that is more racy than would be tolerated in the most conservative community in the United States," declares Robert Peck, legislative counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union.

* * *

Ultimately, no matter what laws are passed, consenting adults are going to find ways to show and tell whatever they want. The sheer number of people on the Net, and the lack of a true intermediary, ensures that they can't all be regulated—except by themselves. As Jeffrey Rosen optimistically notes in the New Yorker, "As control shifts to the speakers and listeners themselves, politicians will find it harder to use their power to stifle speech." ☀

MAKE YOUR OWN PENIS BIGGER than HUGE!

A NEW LOW PRICE FOR A PENIS ENLARGEMENT & ERECTION BUILDING SYSTEM!

It's impossible to fail when using the HYPER-PUMP! It's the easiest way yet to LENGTHEN, FATTEN & STIFFEN your penis to new startling proportions! See photos below.

HAVE ERECT MEASUREMENTS OF 9, 10, YES! EVEN 12 FULL INCHES!

HOW TO BUILD A GIANT PENIS

If you've wanted to be the man that amazes women... the envy of other men because of their massive male organ... if you've ever craved a long, curving penis that hangs down beyond your balls along your thigh, there's only one sure-fire way to achieve your desires! Millions of men know how huge their penis can be thanks to regular use of vacuum development. And now, at a reasonable cost you can share this exciting experience!

NEW HYPER-PUMP TAKES YOUR PENIS TO A NEW DIMENSION!

On your first use of the new HYPER-PUMP you'll watch your penis expand in thickness until the skin is stretched tight and your veins are vividly exposed! You'll watch in astonishment as your organ stretches out further... and further than you've ever imagined it could. You'll see right away, without any doubt, that despite its low cost, the HYPER-PUMPS really work... and work fast to make your penis incredibly bigger!

COST SO MUCH LESS THAN OTHER PUMPS! WORKS BETTER TOO!

You may have seen deluxe pumps costing $50... $75... $100... even as much as $300! The fact is all pumps work on the same principle so why pay more for expensive advertising! The HYPER-PUMPS were designed for men who want fast, first-class results for a reasonable price. They are engineered for ease of use, with the fewest possible parts (nothing to break or wear out), light in weight, but exceptionally durable. And best of all the regular model HYPER-PUMP costs only $14.50! Or you may order the SLIM-JIM or deluxe ELECTRIC models for just a little more!

Nearly 5 million sold!

WHAT MEN ARE SAYING ABOUT THE HYPER-PUMP

"My hard-on is inches longer than usual from use of your new pump. It never fails to amaze me."
"I watch my penis fatten up until it's glued to the sides of the pump. I never guessed I could get that big."
"I like how easy it is to use. Feels natural to use with the squeeze bulb right handy on top."
"Have used HYPER for a month with stupendous results. Thank you for a well made machine."
These are just sample comments. Let us know about your experiences with the HYPER-PUMP.

UNUSUAL SEX PRACTICES

An Encyclopedia on Video Of Deviant Sexual Acts From A to Z
from ANALISM to MASOCHISM to ZOOERASTY

THE ABSENCE OF PHOTOGRAPHS ON THIS AD IS STRICTLY INTENTIONAL.

100% UNBELIEVABLE . . . BUT 100% TRUE!

This is the first time a program of this type has been offered to the general public. This is a comprehensive documentary on the dark, hidden "closet" of human sexuality and "forbidden" erotica. Things that were long suppressed, explicitly "taboo," are now revealed in graphic, uncensored detail, in a presentation that touches on every facet of so-called "abnormal" sexual behaviors. Subjects such as: Bondage; Ritual Sex; Body Modification; Incest; Cross dressing; Fetishism; Zooerasty; Bizarre Sex Practices, and dozens more! It is not our desire to offend the casual viewer, nor discourage those who have a genuine interest in expanding their knowledge.

Here are sample comments by some who have seen this videotape.

"I had always thought that some of this [subject matter] was disgusting, but after seeing UNUSUAL SEX PRACTICES, I realize that it's just another aspect of human nature." - Dale S. Memphis, TN

"It's unbelievable that women have had intercourse with men like that, I kept thinking about it for days after I saw your tape." - Claire D. Philadelphia, PA
"Seeing this chapter on [REDACTED] really provided me with some enlightenment, and helped me understand my own experiences as an abused child." - Denise D. Albuquerque, NM

"I thought I was unshockable! Then I came to the part on the syndrome known as ALGOLAGNIA. Do people really do things like that?" - Robert M. Chicago, IL

Have you ever been embarrassed by the size of your penis? Have you tried to convince yourself it's not how big it is but how you use it? As long as your sex partner needs to be completely filled, you owe it to yourself to do something about a larger penis now!

Our penis developer will increase penis length, thickness, and make your erection harder and stiffer.

Did you know a woman's vagina will stretch and enlarge to accommodate a large penis? Imagine her excitement as you penetrate deeper than you ever have before.

How does our penis developer increase your penis length and diameter?

The answer is called hyperemia, a medical term to describe blood filling into caverns of your penis. The caverns expand causing your penis to grow in size and diameter. The superior pump action and sealed vacuum of our penis developer urges your penis to grow to mammoth proportions. Our penis developer is not just a vibrator like some electric units you may see advertised. Remember, it is the precise slow super pumping action of our space age designed penis pump that builds your penis larger than you ever dreamed possible.

THIS IS NOT A MISPRINT . . . THIS IS NOT A JOKE . . .

If you'll kindly give us about 2 minutes of your time, we'll explain why we have taken this drastic step to get you as a customer and are willing to offer you these brand new, XXX video tapes for this ridiculously low price and then you'll realize we're NOT CRAZY and understand why

PRICES HAVE BEEN # SHATTERED!

WE could make up a lot of reasons for OUR VIDEO SALE, reasons that might seem to make sense for offering THE GUARANTEED LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED on beautiful, fresh-from-the-lab XXX-HARDCORE VIDEOS, but we'll be honest in saying that the true reason we are selling these videos for this price, is simply that WE WANT YOU AS A CUSTOMER AND ARE WILLING TO HONOR YOUR FIRST ORDER FOR THESE GUARANTEED QUALITY TAPES AT THIS RIDICULOUSLY PRICE, BUT ONLY FOR A SHORT TIME. # the Right Way to ENLARGE your PENIS

There's a lot more to it than just pumping it up!

You'll see top XXXstars going through this new system and enjoying their huge size with their partners! You'll see such demonstrations as:

- How to increase size and staying power at the same time!
- How to develop the ability to climax without cumming – and maintain a full erection for continued sex!
- How to develop the internal muscles that make your penis thrust out and up as never before!
- How the three different shapes of penises affect sex!
- Why pumping up by itself doesn't work!
- How long it will take to show a measurable difference.
- A secret of immediate size increase any man can use anytime for instant results!
- The equipment you'll need ... how often to use the system ... the important side benefits of the system ... how women feel about male genital size ... much, much more!

UNIQUE FOUR-STEP SYSTEM VITAL TO SUCCESS!

If you've ever dreamed of seeing your penis grow as much as several inches longer and thicker ... probing new depths of ecstasy within your partner ... stretching aroused openings to the limit as few men ever have, this extraordinary 4-way system is your ticket to success! But pumping up with a vacuum device is not enough! Unless you know and use ALL 4 PARTS of this proven system, you'll never see how really huge your penis can get! Now, for the first time, everything you need to do is shown, step-by-step on this exciting video!

CASE HISTORIES PROVE THIS SYSTEM WORKS WHERE OTHERS FAIL!

Doctors measured and recorded giant increases in both length and thickness in men who carefully followed this system. (There was no improvement noted in the men using other enlargement techniques.) • Youth of 19, grows 2.4 longer, 2.3 thicker! • Man aged 60, gains over 2.6 in length and circumference! • 36-year old develops 2.4 in length, almost 2 in girth! • Man of 61, 2.7 length increase, 3.1 in girth! • 58-year old documented 2.8 length increase, 2 1/2 around! • 3.1 length increase for 20 year old; 2.2 around!

JUST USING A VACUUM PUMP IS NOT ENOUGH!

Yes, a vacuum pump is essential to increasing penis size. But pumping up is only one-fourth of the secret to success. Without all four parts in place, in order, properly used, you are probably doomed to failure. This is the first video that takes you step-by-step through the only enlargement system ever proven to really work. That's why we call it THE RIGHT WAY TO ENLARGE YOUR PENIS! Regular $29.95 only $18.95

NEW, IMPROVED
ELECTRIC MODEL

HUSTLER

February HUSTLER on sale December 19, 1995

LOVING

Healthier than a box of chocolates, HUSTLER is the gift to give yourself this February. Roses wilt and stuffed animals gather dust, but HUSTLER in February will provide lasting pleasure. Be your own Valentine with the help of a bronzed dirty blonde, basking in the warmth of a desert sun and playing alone in her private poolside paradise; pay a visit to a buxom brunette with full lips and fuller tits, shacked up and waiting for company; spy on a pale blond slut who picks up a hitchhiker and gives him a ride that he pays for with a shot of face cream; visit two luscious lesbians, one brown-haired, one blond, painting and panting and making art for fuck's sake; and finally, check out a centerfold spread of a golden-haired, green-eyed beauty, opening a pussy that could stop wars. Shed your armor, and flex your arm. HUSTLER in February has heart.

GLOVING

Compared to an unwanted pregnancy or a premature death, donning a little rubber riding hood before saddling that special mare isn't so bad. Condoms are a necessary evil, but lacking the right information, choosing them can be as difficult as picking out a fuck flick without consulting Erotic Entertainment. Fret not. Tireless in his quest for knowledge and pussy, Calvin Moore enlisted the help of a randy young couple to test a broad variety of prophylactic products. Strength, sensitivity, ribbing, lubrication, cost and packaging were evaluated under real-life conditions. Discover which brands the bunnylike pair picked, and which they panned in February's required reading.

PUSHING AND SHOVING

Generally believed to be a crime perpetrated exclusively in prison, male rape of males is a sore subject for anyone unfortunate enough to have firsthand experience. Seen by some as a sexual deviation, and by others as a violent act of control, male rape (most commonly committed by heterosexual offenders) usually goes unreported, but that doesn't mean the atrocity doesn't happen all too often. Conceivably the single greatest fear of men, rape is far more prevalent than most people realize. Take an unflinching look into the nastiness known as male rape with ace scribe Jon Mescal, and uncover the truth behind a secret no one else will dare discuss.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Bits & Pieces reveals what Calvin Klein couldn't; Hot Letters makes horny hearts skip a beat; Erotic Entertainment picks the flicks that stiffen dicks; and Beaver Hunt presents the true theme of democracy: power to the pussy. America's Magazine returns in February with Valentine gifts for all comers. Count our blessings.
